Dissension Looms Among Officials In Smith Regime

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP)—White senior civil servants and army officers with close ties to Britain were reported in dissent Saturday against Prime Minister Ian Smith's declaration of independence from Britain. Gloom fell over business circles in Salisbury.

Smith, however, appeared confident and firmly in control. He went to the country for the weekend while the nation awaited possible new retaliatory measures from the United Nations and Rhodesia Britain.

Anti-Rhodesian demonstrations broke out in the Congo and Tanzania. Demands mounted in Africa for Britain to crush Smith's regime with military force. Students in Cape Town, South Africa, staged a pro-independence demonstration.

In Cape Town, South Africa, about 100 South African and Rhodesian students staged a pro-independence demonstration.

Physical Exam Reveals Johnson Is Doing Great

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson got an in-gut-toe medical report Saturday following a head-to-toe examination.

Johnson's convalescence from his Oct. 8 gall bladder-kidney stone surgery is "coming along well," Dr. George G. Burkley reported.

After talking with Burkley, assistant press secretary Joseph Laitin told newsmen the President's earlier back pains have not entirely disappeared, and there still is some soreness around the incision.

"He found nothing other than normal healing," Laitin said. Dr. Burkley described the situation to me as a normal recovery picture. Sometimes he gets a twinge of distress when he turns the wrong way. And he still has some trouble getting up and down. Dr. Burkley is satisfied the way things are going."

Johnson's weight was described as under 200 pounds. Laitin said Burkley is satisfied with it. Before his illness, Johnson weighed about 220.

While Burkley gives his famous patient a once-over every day, this is the first report of a thorough physical examination since Johnson came to his ranch near here three weeks ago to recuperate.

Laitin said Johnson took note of news stories reporting two days of strenuous presidential activity, including a six-hour session Thursday with his key diplomatic and military advisers.

Laitin said Johnson received on Saturday "a nice wire" from former President and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower. It was in response to a get-well message from the Johnsons to the five-star general.

outside the office of the British consul-general. The South African government, sympathetic to Smith's government, was expected to increase trade with Rhodesia but Prime Minister Hendrik V. Verwoerd remained silent on whether he would commit his armed forces, most powerful in Africa, to help Rhodesia in the event of military intervention.

Bitterness among senior civil servants, some military officers and businessmen was the first sign of opposition among Rhodesian whites to Smith's action Thursday, leaving the destinies of 3.8 million Africans to 225,000 whites.

Informants said David Hall, chief of protocol and a former regular British officer, had resigned. Many others were believed to be also considering resignation.

Temporary restrictions on banking facilities and a general uncertainty of the country's future have caused commercial circles to delay transactions.

No positive reaction was expected before Britain and other nations made clear the actions they planned taking to counter Rhodesia's seizure of independence.

Britain has imposed economic sanctions on Rhodesia. It cut off the imports of Rhodesian tobacco, a chief money earner for Rhodesia. The United States barred imports of Rhodesian sugar and suspended applications for credits and loans and embargoed arms shipments.

Sir Humphrey Gibbs, the British governor of the colony of Rhodesia and the only governing official recognized by Britain, apparently is powerless. When Smith declared independence, Queen Elizabeth II ordered Gibbs to dismiss Smith and his government. But Smith ordered Gibbs fired and told him to get out of Government House.

Dirksen Singles Population Rise As Major Threat

TUSCULUM, Ill. (AP)—Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., said Saturday that burgeoning population rather than communism per se is the biggest problem in the world today.

Dirksen said demographic experts predict Red China will have more than one billion population by 1970. He said this will lead the Red Chinese leaders to seek means to satisfy the economic, political and social pressures that its population will engender.

However, Dirksen said, he is still opposed to admitting Red China to the United Nations.

"The problem we face is one of aggression," he said. "Red China was the aggressor in Viet Nam and Southeast Asia. To admit her to the United Nations before she sees the error of her ways and recants would be to reward aggression and this I will continue to oppose."

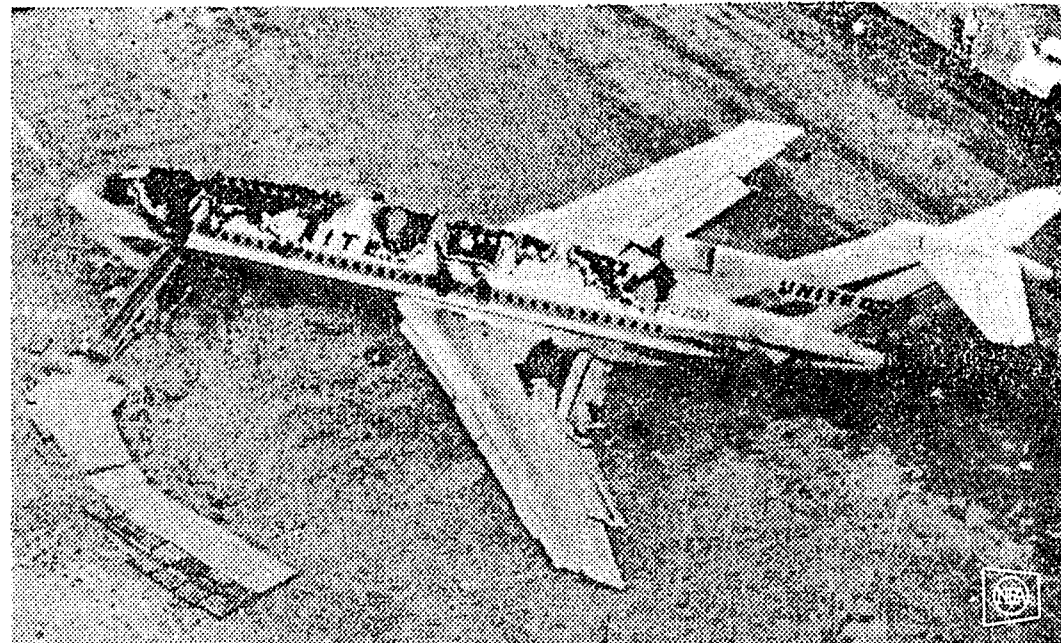

Dirksen was in Tusculum speaking to a public affairs meeting at the U.S. Industrial Chemicals Co.

Reveal Plans To Increase Viet Troops To 200,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. forces in South Viet Nam will increase to about 200,000 men by the early part of next year, sources said Saturday.

The exact numbers in the additional buildup have not yet been determined, but the sources said the added troops under a new presidential decision will total about 40,000 men. There now are some 160,000 U.S. servicemen in Viet Nam, with the bulk of them Army troops.

The sources said top U.S. officials in Washington are now letting Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. commander in the war zone, "call the tune." The two main requirements in troop decisions are: 1-What can be used effectively. 2-What can be supported logistically.

Weakened VC Guerrillas Attack U.S. Base Camp

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Defeated in three major battles the past week that cost them 710 confirmed dead, the Viet Cong Friday night attacked the base camp of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division at An Khe. Again they were repulsed.

Briefing officers said Saturday the Red Guerrillas fired 75 to 100 mortar rounds at the camp, in the central highlands 240 miles northeast of Saigon, and then attempted an assault with automatic rifles.

Cavalry machine gunners silenced one mortar and U.S. helicopters and artillery turned back the rifleman.

The guerrillas left three dead behind.

Stevenson's Son Blasts Protests Against Policy

URBANA, Ill. (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson III said Saturday that impatient and impulsive dissenters to the nation's policy in Viet Nam "have yet to learn that only the strong can be free and the free world looks to this country for that strength."

Stevenson, a freshman Democratic state representative in Illinois, spoke at a mass meeting to launch the University of Illinois campus blood crusade which will operate a blood donation station for students next week in cooperation with the American Red Cross.

Student sponsors of the crusade have emphasized the purpose of blood collection is to provide a plasma pool for casualties in the Viet Nam struggle.

"Most Americans know our national purpose," Stevenson told the meeting. "Their dedication to this purpose is not expressed in political intolerance or in frenzied, impatient bursts of sabre rattling—but in quiet, steady dedication."

"It would be tragic for the world if we adversaries... mistook the temper of the country."

As the program at the University of Illinois opened today, the Red Cross announced that more than 3,000 students in 13 colleges have already donated blood to back up their support for U.S. policies in Viet Nam.

No U.S. casualties were reported.

Perhaps as a diversion, other guerrillas struck at a command post of 1st Cavalry troops based in the Plei Me Special Forces camp, about 60 miles southwest of An Khe. The Americans there suffered light casualties. There was no report on Viet Cong losses.

It was the windup of a week in which: —Paratroopers of the U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade killed 403 men of an entrenched Viet Cong battalion in a daylong battle Monday at an abandoned village in the D Zone jungle 30 miles northeast of Saigon.

—Two companies of the U.S.-advised 52nd Vietnamese ranger battalion and supporting warplanes wrecked an ambush laid by about five hard-core Viet Cong companies Thursday on the Saigon-Vung Tau highway 40 miles southeast of this city. They killed 161 of the guerrillas and sent the rest reeling through rice paddies and swamps.

—Men of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division and supporting aircraft killed 146 of an attacking Viet Cong force Friday on and around an abandoned rubber plantation along Highway 13, 40 miles north of Saigon.

A spokesman here said American casualties in the fight Friday were moderate. They were first described as light. Men on the scene implied 14 or 15 were killed, reporting the ratio was 10 to 1.

Speaking of the Thursday ambush that backfired, Col. Charles H. Reidenbaugh of Carlisle, Pa., told newsmen "I wouldn't speculate that we knocked out a VC battalion, but we sure twisted their tail."

Reidenbaugh, 44, is senior adviser to the 10th Vietnamese army division. He reported arms seized by the Rangers were "sophisticated weapons, not the kind that are made under a canvas canopy in the jungle." Among them were Communist Chinese burp guns of a type never seen before in this area.

He introduced a resolution that would have the council ask all countries to refrain from any action which could give aid and comfort to "the illegal and unconstitutional regime in Southern Rhodesia" and "in particular to refrain from supplying arms, equipment and war material to it."

The resolution would demand that all countries extend every necessary assistance and support to Britain in making effective the measures taken by its government, including the economic and financial measures, to bring the rebellion to an end.

Ambassador Arsene Assouan Usher of the Ivory Coast said an economic boycott against Rhodesia would need two years to take effect.

Usher introduced a resolution on behalf of all organized African countries that would have the council demand "that the rebellion by the racist minority settler regime be immediately crushed" and "that majority rule be established in the territory on the basis of the principle of 'one man, one vote.'"

The resolution would invoke a complete oil embargo and interruption of economic relations, and of rail, sea, air, postal, telegraphic, radio and other means of communication, and severance of diplomatic and consular relations. "In accordance with Article 41 of the charter."

It sought to have the council decide to take all enforcement measures provided under Articles 42 and 43 of the charter "against the racist minority settler regime."

Article 42 authorizes the council to take "action by air, sea or land forces" to restore international peace. Article 43 binds U.N. members to make forces available to the council for this purpose.

They include parts of the 102nd Infantry Division; the 14th Artillery Headquarters and Headquarters Battery in Chicago; the 322nd Logistic Command Headquarters and Headquarters Co. in Chicago; the 4th Battalion, 80th Field Artillery, 8th Infantry, Toward, in Peoria; the 910th Military Intelligence Detachment Division in Chicago; the 121st Military Intelligence Division in Chicago; the 624th Military Intelligence Detachment Armed Forces Censorship in Chicago; the 301st Signal Co. Base Maintenance in Peoria; the 554th Transportation Corps in Freeport, and the 1st Detachment of the 5,000th Transportation Corps Railway Group Headquarters in Chicago.

The sealift is expected to continue through November as it prelude to an airlift of 3,000 to 4,000 refugees a month.

First Refugees Arrive In U.S. Under New Pact

MATANZAS, Cuba (AP)—After heart-breaking scenes of farewell, 108 Cuban refugees set out aboard the small excursion boat Skipper K Saturday for exile in the United States, the first of tens of thousands under the official U.S.-Cuban program.

Wives had to leave their husbands and one distraught mother, 38-year-old Mrs. Leopoldina Alfonso De Visuna, was forced to leave her 11-year-old son behind.

"How can they do this?" she cried, boarding the bus for the dock. "But what can I do except go? They tell me if I don't take my turn now they don't know when I will get another chance."

The boy, officials said, would probably be included in one of the next few trips. Mrs. De Visuna is joining her husband, Lazaro Franco De Visuna of Miami.

With a lingering farewell kiss, Pedro Hernandez sent his family off, unable to go himself because of a Cuban government restriction on all men of military age.

"Don't worry," the 23-year-old Hernandez told his wife at the bus that was taking her, his one-year-old daughter, his mother and sister to the Skipper K. The members of the Hernandez family will join Hernandez's father, Alfredo Hernandez of Miami, Fla.

Hernandez said he had never considered not letting his family go despite the possible lengthy separation.

"It is a sacrifice that must be made," he said.

The restrictions on persons of military age applies to males between 15 and 26.

At dockside, emigres were checked by U.S. immigration and health officials, who arrived and later left, aboard the Skipper K, which usually carries tourists between Key West and the Dry Tortugas, 70 miles west in the Gulf of Mexico, was the first vessel put into service following a U.S.-Cuban agreement aimed at promoting an orderly exodus.

Until the Fidel Castro government ordered a halt last week, refugees had been leaving the small fishing port of Camarioca in tiny boats for the hazardous crossing. Several boats were lost.

Monday, another U.S.-chartered vessel, the 75-foot new Pan American, will join the shuttle service. She was en route Saturday from her home port of Biloxi, Miss.

Each boat can carry 150 passengers.

The sealift is expected to continue through November as it prelude to an airlift of 3,000 to 4,000 refugees a month.

Britain Seeks Embargo

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Britain proposed Saturday that the U.N. Security Council impose an arms embargo to stop the rebellion in Rhodesia. But angry African countries countered with a demand that the council invoke a full array of penalties, including use of military force.

Britain, acting on its own, and the Ivory Coast, acting for African countries generally, introduced rival resolutions in the 11-nation council. Neither appeared likely to win approval, and efforts were launched in private negotiations to come up with a compromise.

The council adjourned an afternoon session at 6:25 p.m. EST until 10:30 a.m. EST Monday, in order to permit further consultations on the two resolutions.

British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart defended his government's decision against using force to compel Rhodesia's 225,000 whites to accept a constitution for majority rule by its 4 million blacks.

He told the council that would have been "wholly inappropriate to the purpose and fraught with misery for a very large number of innocent people."

But he called on the council to support a tobacco and sugar boycott and other economic measures taken by Britain to compel Prime Minister Ian Smith's breakaway regime to return its allegiance to the Crown so that majority rule could be promoted there.

"Any embargo to be effective cannot be imposed by one country alone," he declared.

He introduced a resolution that would have the council ask all countries to refrain from any action which could give aid and comfort to "the illegal and unconstitutional regime in Southern Rhodesia" and "in particular to refrain from supplying arms, equipment and war material to it."

The resolution would demand that all countries extend every necessary assistance and support to Britain in making effective the measures taken by its government, including the economic and financial measures, to bring the rebellion to an end.

90 Passengers Die In Ship Disaster

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)

The holiday cruise ship Yarmouth Castle, razed by a mysterious and fast-spreading fire, sank in the Atlantic Ocean Saturday at Nassau during the day.

George Brown, 66, and his wife, Viola, 61, of Deerfield Beach, Fla., told newsmen the crew had no water with which to fight the fire and "the hoses ship just lay on the deck."

Morris said 459 persons were rescued out of 549 placed on the vessel by actual pursers count.

And the captain of one of the rescue vessels, the cruise ship Bahama Star, said, "We are presuming that the others perished" as the Yarmouth Castle "burst into a ball of flame" and went to the bottom burning from bow to stern.

Morris reported officially that the Bahama Star picked up 240 passengers and 127 crewmen and the Finnish motorship Finnulp rescued 50 passengers and 42 crewmen.

Thirty-four burned and shocked survivors were at Princess Margaret hospital here. Fourteen were evacuated from the Bahama Star by U.S. Coast Guard helicopters and 20 more injured were taken off the rescue ship on its arrival here.

Carl Brown, 39-year-old captain of the Bahama Star, said he did not know exactly how many survivors he had aboard when the vessel first arrived here.

One of those hospitalized, 78-year-old Nathan Lehr of Miami, died of his burns.

The cause of the fire was not known, but disaster struck so suddenly the Yarmouth Castle went to her death in 265 fathoms without ever sending a distress call.

Byron Boulstinas, captain of the Yarmouth Castle, was among the survivors on the Bahama Star, but he and other officers of the lost ship declined to talk with newsmen until after consulting with the owners.

Crewmen of the Yarmouth Castle apparently performed heroic rescue work, Brown said he was told, and "I believe there was no panic on the ship."

The Bahama Star and the Finnulp reached the burning vessel soon after the blaze broke out 110 miles east of Nassau.

Brown said "we believe all those who were not trapped inside" the burning vessel were picked out of the water.

McNamara Releases Army Reserve Units

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced Saturday night the immediate elimination of 751 Army Reserve units, thus overriding a Senate committee resolution requesting him to defer action until next March.

A Pentagon announcement said this action "is in the national interest" to hasten overall combat readiness.

The announcement took cognizance of the resolution by the Senate Armed Services Committee last month challenging the Defense Department's plan to eliminate the so-called surplus Reserve divisions, but approving that portion of the plan to create a "selected force" of three divisions and six brigades formed of National Guard and Reserve units.

Before reaffirming the plan of last September to eliminate the 751 units which contain 55,000 men, Saturday's announcement said, McNamara, Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance, Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor and Army Chief of Staff Gen. Harold K. Johnson "carefully considered the resolution of the Senate Armed Services Committee." The announcement added:

"They decided that the immediate inactivation of these units which are not required by contingency war plans, is essential."

"The inactivation of the unneeded units will make available quickly additional trained manpower for units which are required by our contingency war plans and will enable them to increase combat readiness at the earliest possible date. In addition, the need to recruit men from civilian life will be less than would be the case if the existing structure were utilized."

The announcement referred also to charges in some congressional quarters that McNamara is setting out to merge the Guard and Reserve, without a mandate from Congress. It said:

"The inactivation does not involve any merger or consolidation of the Army Reserve into the National Guard. The Army Reserve will be programmed to attain a fiscal year 1966 end strength of 270,000 as provided in the Department of Defense Appropriations Act."

The Pentagon statement repeated outlines of the plan: —Establish the selected Reserve force of three divisions, six independent brigades and supporting units with a total strength of 150,000 men; —Increase combat readiness of the selected force by authorizing 100 per cent manpower strength; —Authorize a 50 per cent increase in drill pay periods and receive priority for equipment and maintenance.

At the same time, the announcement said, "steps are being taken to maintain the trained strength and readiness of other Army National Guard and Reserve units within authorized programs."

Since the original announcement last September, Army planners were understood to have explored but excluded the possibility of saving the six Reserve divisions earmarked for elimination, at least in some form.

The six divisions contain about 500 of the 751 units to be inactivated. Of the 55,000 reservists affected, approximately 42,000 are in the six divisions and related elements.

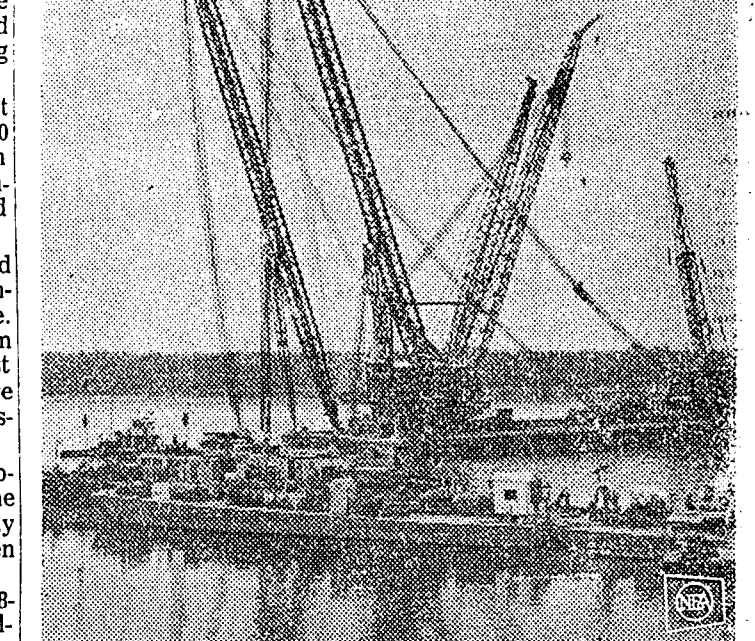

The six divisions are the 63rd of California, the 77th of New York, the 90th of Texas, 83rd of Ohio-West Virginia, 102nd of Missouri-Illinois and the 81st of Georgia—North Carolina—South Carolina—Tennessee.

The 55,000 men affected have the option of switching to priority reserve or National Guard units, or entering the ready reserve reinforcement pool where they would have no unit connection.

"We got into one lifeboat but they couldn't lower it," Brown said. "The winch wouldn't work. We went aft to another boat, but there were no oarlocks on it. We had to paddle it like a canoe."

Gerald McDonnell, 36, of Silverside, Md., also criticized safety precautions aboard the ship.

Danger Period Over According To Doctors

FT. GORDON, Ga. (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower had the best night yet since he had another onslaught of heart trouble in the early hours of Tuesday. It underscored assurances from his doctors that he is past his greatest period of danger and has a good chance of recovery.

So an air of encouraging optimism returned to Ft. Gordon Army Hospital, where the former president is a patient.

But this is tempered by the fact that the 75-year-old general also was improving once before and then suffered a setback Wednesday after physicians had said he might be playing golf again in a couple of weeks.

They still are predicting recovery, but not in any definite time span and certainly not in such a short period. They say they think he might return to golfing in about three months.

Dr. Paul Dudley White, eminent Boston heart specialist who commanded the team attending Eisenhower at the time of his 1955 heart attack, said Saturday that this time the ailment seemed to have produced "the definitive episode of coronary thrombosis," or a formation of a clot in a blood vessel.

He said this was accompanied by infarction, or the death of a relatively small area of the heart.

Like the other doctors who have been on the case from the start, White said the former president is in good condition.

Otterville Church To Be Dedicated Nov. 21 Has Historical Past

JERSEYVILLE — Dedication services will be held Sunday, Nov. 21st, for the recently completed new Baptist church in the Village of Otterville. The new building replaces the old brick structure which was erected by the Baptist denomination shortly after the end of the Civil War.

Adjoining the north wall of the old brick church are the graves of Dr. Silas Hamilton who was responsible for the establishment of the first free school in Illinois; George Washington, colored, who established the George Washington Educational Fund through his will for the education of people of his race, and Gilbert Douglas, a cousin of the famous Illinois Civil War time senator, Stephen A. Douglas.

The dedicatory address for the new church, November 21st, will be delivered by the Reverend Lloyd Spencer of Rochelle, former missionary of the Alton Industrial Association. Former pastors of the church have been invited to participate in the program which will begin at 2 p.m.

The Reverend L. H. Moore of Carbondale, editor of the Illinois Baptist newspaper, has been invited to be guest speaker at the morning worship service.

Adjoins Ed Building

The new church building is of frame construction. It is 34 by 60 feet and is connected with the educational building erected in 1954 by a 20 by 24 foot building that houses the nursery, secretary's office and rest room facilities. The educational building is 30 by 56 feet and is erected over a full basement.

In May, 1964, the congregation named a survey and planning committee, and in July of that year a building committee was selected. Plans for the church building were approved in May of this year and building got under way July 2nd. The new church has been in use since October 24th. The church and its furnishings are valued at $3200.00.

Loosing Pastor

The present pastor of the church, the Reverend Vale Walkington, has tendered his resignation to accept a call to the Baptist church in White Hall, the Calvary Baptist church, Rev. Walkington served the Otterville church since January, 1962. He will conclude his pastorate in Otterville on the church dedication Sunday.

Reverend and Mrs. Walkington will move to their new home in White Hall after Thanksgiving. They have four children: James, a student at Clarke Memorial College, Newton, Miss.; Ernest Ray, employed at Murrayville; Robert Dean, a freshman at Jersey Community High School and Stephen Lee at home.

Communists Still Reaching For Power In Dominican

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Still reaching for power, the numerically small but always vocal and violent Communists are concentrating their efforts on attempts to dominate student, labor and peasant groups in the Dominican Republic.

They are trying to build a "united anti-imperialist front" which they apparently hope will force the Inter-American Peace Force of the Organization of American States to withdraw from this capital.

The levers the Communists use for this are anti-Yankeeism and nationalism. Nationalism has been flagging among a people weary of the civil conflict which began with a revolutionary movement last April, but the extreme left loses no opportunity to revive it.

When 2,000 battleready OAS troops occupied the heart of Santo Domingo and the rebel area last week, the extreme left provoked noisy demonstrations. Although these were confined to a few streets in a city of a half million, they indicated resourcefulness and determination of three Communist organizations. According to U.S. and Dominican intelligence figures, the numerical strength of the militants in the three Communist parties is divided this way: The 14th of June Movement, Castroist, between 1,500 and 2,000; the Dominican Popular Movement, reflecting the pro-Chinese viewpoint, about 800, and the pro-Moscow Dominican Communist party, about 700.

The "anti-imperialist front" drive is an objective common to almost all political parties in the Caribbean island nation, including the Dominican Revolutionary party of former President Juan Bosch and the Social Christians. But it is the keystone of the Communist effort.

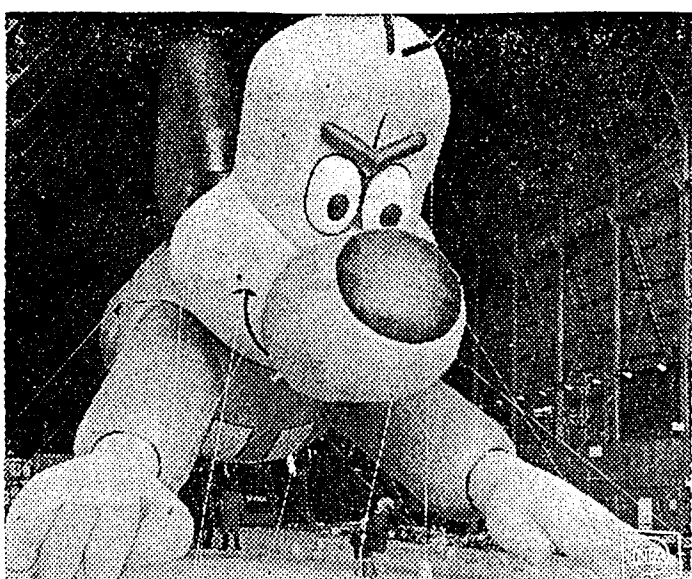

The Bosch party and the Social Christians have balked at linking up with the Communist groupings on such a project, but joint action in the future cannot be ruled out.

It is known, for example, that the extreme left is planning to oppose spring elections on the ground that honest balloting will be impossible as long as OAS troops remain in the country. This would provide fuel to build the "anti-imperialist" fire.

In an attempt to insure their control over any such emerging front, the Communists direct their main efforts at student, labor and peasant groups, while attempting also to influence lower ranks of the military.

Their propaganda argues that the rebel "constitutionalists" were victorious in recent fighting, and that they are entitled to the spoils.

NEWCOMER — New this year in the annual Macy's Thanksgiving Day parade in New York City will be this balloon replica of the cartoon character "Underdog." Temporary doghouse for the 63-foot bag filled with 8,000 cubic feet of helium gas is the Goodyear blimp hangar at Akron, Ohio. (NEA Telephoto)

Two controls—two sleeping comforts in one Electric Blanket

an Electric Blanket lets you dial the sleeping temperature you like best
(pleasant dreams)

Warmth without weight—that's the beauty of an electric blanket. It's light as a feather, yet keeps you as warm as three ordinary, heavyweight blankets —if that's the way you like it.

And an electric blanket with dual controls allows both husband and wife to dial the sleeping temperature each prefers.

An electric blanket for every bed in the house makes good sense. You'll have far less bedding to store . . . and a happy, well-rested family at breakfast time.

Secure Necessary Right-Of-Way In Sewerage Project

BEARDSTOWN — Completion Thursday of all negotiations for right-of-way for the outfall sewer which will be a part of the $500,000 disposal system to be built by the city in connection with an agreement with the new pork production plant for Oscar Mayer clears the way for an early start on the project.

City Attorney Milton McClure said Friday that he had "completed all right of way negotiations" and had the signatures of 21 owners of the parcels of land involved.

It was understood that almost every one of the landowners co-operated completely with the city and that advertising for bids on the job will be done at once.

May Go To Court
Coming to terms with the landowners was much simpler and less expensive than the problem facing the Beardstown Park Board which has not been able to complete negotiations for land involved in the Board's "new Airport project."

Attorney McClure also is working in this case and expressed the view Friday that it is very possible a condemnation suit may have to be filed to get the land needed from the owners of one parcel vital to the project.

The first opening addresses began at 10 a.m. and the concluding "position statements" ended at 9 a.m.

Scotland Yard Moves Soon To Its New Headquarters

AP Special Report

By GRANVILLE J. WATTS LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard is moving soon, and some of the world-famous police headquarters won't be the same.

Although the name Scotland Yard is being retained, the police are leaving their strange old building, with its distinctive rounded corners, and moving into a 20-story block of glass and concrete in the nearby Victoria section of London.

Under a new telephone dialing system Scotland Yard will lose its famous number Whitehall 1212. The new number will have only digits, something like 451212.

The name Scotland Yard is traced to a legend that an area of land at Whitehall was known as Scotland because buildings there were set aside to accommodate the kings of Scotland when they visited London.

In 1829 a large house, No. 4 Whitehall Place, was taken over by Sir Robert Peel as headquarters for the police force.

The men were soon speaking of their station by the name of the little street—Scotland Yard—which it faced. The name stuck.

Curiously, Scotland Yard almost became a national opera house. In 1875 foundations for such a building were laid alongside the police headquarters, but funds were lacking to complete it.

Sir Richard Pennefather, receiver for the Metropolitan Police, purchased the incomplete building in 1877. It was demolished and Norman Shaw, one of the leading architects of the day, was commissioned to design a police headquarters overlooking the Thames River.

The commissioner of police and his staff moved into their new offices in 1890 along with the Criminal Investigation Department.

The yard had really arrived. Scotland Yard is the headquarters of London's Metropolitan Police but as any Sherlock Holmes fan knows, is best known for its detectives. The CID was set up in 1878 and today about 1,700 plain-clothes officers are engaged solely in crime investigation.

Also housed at Scotland Yard is the London branch of the international criminal police organization—Interpol—which keeps in touch with police forces throughout the world.

Scotland Yard is expected to move into the new building about the middle of next year. The move has been made necessary by the massive expansion of the Metropolitan Police force.

No decision has been taken on the future of the old Scotland Yard. It may be pulled down.

Norse fishermen inspired this all-season Thermal Underwear by Munsingwear.

Norse and other Scandinavian fishermen traditionally throw their fish nets over their backs for warmth after a day's fishing. From this practice came Munsingwear's THERMAL UNDERWEAR for the outdoor worker and sportsman... made with a knit waffle pattern that traps the air... and prevents evaporation by lateral body movement. Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (AP) — Prices swung rather broadly at times in the butcher hog market last week but the top held at $25.50 a hundredweight on four of the five days.

On Thursday the peak reached $25.85, the highest in almost three months, although the supply of 27,500 for the week was the largest in several months. However, considerably more than half the total offerings arrived on only two days, Monday and Friday. Other days the offerings did not exceed 4,500 and on Thursday they were down to 3,000.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market was disconcerted last week by the controversy between aluminum producers and the government over the abortive price rise for the metal, and stocks backed away irregularly.

The financial community also had to reckon with the massive electric power failure in the northeastern states that temporarily disrupted the mechanics of the major stock exchanges as well as other institutions.

On top of this, there was considerable concern over Rhodesia's declaration of independence from Britain and fear of possibly drastic consequences.

Aluminum stocks were jarred downward by the government's threat to release aluminum from the strategic stockpile. They rallied later on news that Alcoa had joined other major producers in the price hike, which preceded the government decision to release the stockpile metal. Still later in the week, the aluminum fell again as the companies rescinded their price increase.

All of this was entirely too reminiscent of spring 1962 for Wall Street's liking. That was when the Kennedy administration forced the steel industry to rescind a price increase for steel.

Unlike 1962, however, the stock market showed considerable bullishness last week, aside from the aluminum and some other groups. Giant strides were made by the still very popular color television set makers, other electronics and a variety of stocks which caught the fancy of traders.

Still, it was the first clear-cut decline in the market in weeks, according to The Associated Press average of 60 stocks, which dipped 4 to 35.2—a very minor loss.

The Dow Jones industrial average last week took a moderate loss of 3.17 at 956.29.

The margin of losses over gainers among the 1,546 issues traded was the quite moderate one of 737 to 632.

Volume last week was 31,935,361 shares compared with 29,567,240 the previous week, which was cut down to four days by election day, a market holiday.

Last week's trading was diminished by the big power failure, which resulted in a delay of an hour and five minutes in opening the New York Stock Exchange on Wednesday, as well as a disruption in communications.

Bond market turned in a mixed price performance that was jumbled by a combination of Tuesday's northeastern states power blackout and the Veterans Day holiday.

Corporate bond prices were off substantially.

The market for the week was mostly 25 cents lower. However, the decline ranged to 75 cents on some weights over 230 lbs.

The market for slaughter steers also softened under the pressure of more liberal offerings and finished steady to 25 cents lower. However, buyers bid rather actively after Monday's heavy run until another large supply arrived on Friday.

Steer slaughter under federal inspection last week was understood to have been equal to the record 585,000 head and the seventh consecutive week it had exceeded one half million.

Wooled slaughter lambs sold steady to 25 cents higher.

Coed Released From 11 Hour Hypnotic Trance

INKSTER, Mich. (AP)—Two psychiatrists worked for several hours Saturday to release an 18-year-old coed from an 11-hour hypnotic trance.

The girl, Cynthia Wellman of Inkster, was rushed to Wayne County General Hospital at about 7 a.m. She was released five hours later.

"Miss Wellman had a little headache and was a little upset" when she was released but apparently in good condition, said Dr. Sidney Jenkins, chief of the hospital's psychiatric division.

A student at Henry Ford Community College, Miss Wellman was taken by police to the hospital from the home of Dr. Gerald Griffin, a psychology instructor at the college, said Inkster Police Chief Robert C. Henry.

Henry quoted the girl's mother, Mrs. Wellman, as saying Griffin contacted her early in the morning and told her the girl had been in an hypnotic trance since 8 p.m. Friday.

"She was out (hypnotized)" when officers took the girl to the hospital, Henry said. The officers "weren't able to get her to respond to questions."

At the hospital, Drs. Kenneth Snead and Bruce Danto worked to free Miss Wellman from the spell.

"They attempted at first to reverse the hypnotic suggestion. This was not too successful," Jenkins said. Then the doctors administered medication to Miss Wellman.

The original suggestion that placed Miss Wellman in the trance "had been given to her through 'sight'—through visual concentration on an object, Jenkins explained.

The psychiatrists decided to use sound as a stimulus in their efforts to free her from the trance.

"We used the sound of a clock as a stimulus," Jenkins said. "Then we were successful in suggesting (while Miss Wellman's attention was focused on the sound of the clock) that she come out of the trance."

Jenkins said the Wellman case indicates hypnosis should not be taken lightly and should be attempted only by qualified persons under rigidly controlled circumstances.

Halted Negroes Cause Fighting In Alabama City

GREENVILLE, Ala. (AP)—Violence erupted Saturday when police halted a march of about 150 Negro marchers. A city official said the action touched off a hail of rocks, bricks and bottles.

A police officer suffered a broken leg and was sent to a hospital.

"All of us were hit at least twice. I was hit twice myself," said city attorney Elisha Poole. Much of the Negro section in this south Alabama city of about 7,000 was virtually sealed off and state troopers were sent in to reinforce auxiliary police-men.

Poole gave this account of the incident:

City officials decided that because civil rights workers disrupted the Negro school Friday the city was too tense for a Saturday. The marchers, led by the Rev. Samuel Wells of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, were halted by about 10 policemen and auxiliary officers.

An apparently drunken Negro advanced toward the police chief with a knife and was arrested. At least one Negro was struck by a policeman.

The man with the knife, identified as Joe David Burnett, was jailed.

"All at once the air was dark as night with rocks and bricks and bottles," Poole said.

He said two Negroes armed with shotguns were arrested during the violence.

The Negroes dispersed, but in late afternoon began marching around in the sealed off area marshaling forces for another attempted march. The second march was turned back by police without incident.

Bull Wells said another march would be attempted at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Demonstrations began here Thursday as part of the SCLC drive to get federal legislation protecting civil rights workers.

"They didn't have any life preservers in the cabin," McDonnell said. "The ropes had been painted and they couldn't lower the boats. There were no life rings on deck. We had no fire drill. It was a very poorly run ship."

"It was a horrible experience," said Arthur Gordon, 53, a Los Angeles salesman, one of the injured flown here.

Another, Mary J. Hamilton, of St. Petersburg, Fla., cried hysterically: "My son is out there! His name is Jonathan. I don't know what happened to him!"

Hundreds of Bahamians, many of them weeping and wailing over relatives in the crew of the Yarmouth Castle, surrounded Princess Margaret Hospital.

The 365-foot Yarmouth Castle, which sails twice weekly between Miami and Nassau, left Miami Friday night, and was followed out shortly by the Bahama Star.

At 2:15 a.m. Brown said he saw smoke on the horizon, picked up speed and overtook the Yarmouth Castle. She was burning in the forward upper deck, he said, and flames were spreading rapidly throughout the ship.

"We passed three lifeboats full of people and called to them that we would return after we got the passengers off the burning boat," Brown said.

"Most of the passengers were standing on the starboard deck. They seemed dazed and helpless."

and we had to plead with them to jump over the side."

The Yarmouth Castle, totally enveloped in fire that sent a column of smoke 4,000 feet into the air, listed badly, capsized and plunged to the bottom at 6:03 a.m.

When the Bahama Star left the scene, there was no sign of other survivors. Only four empty lifeboats and debris scattered over the calm blue sea marked the remains of the Yarmouth Castle.

W.R. Cooper, a Coast Guard helicopter pilot who flew into Nassau with three of the survivors, said "it was a terrible sight. The ship was a mass of flames from bow to stern."

The fire had raged through much of the ship before even one of the passengers were even aware of it.

Gordon said he heard someone shout "fire!" but "I thought it was just a drunk. But when he kept shouting, I went out and found the lobby surrounded by flames."

Grotesque View Remains After Viet Nam Battle

BAU BANG, South Viet Nam (AP)—If war looked at its face in the mirror the morning after, this is what it would have seen along a highway north of Saigon Sunday:

The burnt out ruins of a pastel-painted village still smoking.

Viet Cong bodies sprawled by the side of the road in attitudes of chaotic repose—legs and arms stiffened in grotesque statuary—with the flies buzzing about in the humid tropical air.

Maj. Gen. Jonathan Seaman, commander of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division, handing out Purple Hearts to American wounded, arrayed on canvas stretchers on the shaded patio of a rubber plantation.

In anxious Vietnamese farmers in coolie hats awaiting permission to go into the woods and butcher a water buffalo killed in the Highway 13 battle Friday between U.S. infantrymen and the Viet Cong.

A tremendous explosion, piling up smoke in a sky already crowded with cumulus clouds, marking the end of a Viet Cong ammunition dump and spraying metal fragments among the felled trees of the plantation.

Camera-happy GIs recording for the home folks the Big Red One's first spoils of war: Captured enemy weapons covering the whole lawn in front of a battalion command post. All sorts of weapons, machine guns and flame throwers and grenade launchers and rifles.

As a morale factor, the morning after left no hangover; only the heady feeling of having drawn blood, spilled blood and proved worthy.

Friday morning a detachment of the 1st Division met the enemy quite by surprise at Bau Bang in the division's first major encounter since coming to Viet Nam a month ago. The men of the "drafted division," as it has come to be called by volunteer units such as the U.S. 3rd Marine Division and the 173rd Airborne Brigade, acquitted themselves magnificently in a gruelling daylong fight. Killing 10 Communists for every American lost, the Big Red One claimed 146 Viet Cong dead and laid a number of them out by the side of the road to prove it.

Permission was granted to Glenn Brandt for placement of an anhydrous ammonia tank on the Mahoney property, northeast of town.

Two Jacksonville men sustained cuts and bruises but did not require hospital treatment following a one-car accident at the south junction of Routes 100 and 104 at 5:20 a.m. Saturday.

Gary W. Wagner, 20, of 500 West Morgan, driver of the car was headed west on Route 104 when he attempted to turn at the junction toward Bluffs.

The auto ran off the west side of the road, slid 140 feet, ran back across the highway to the east side and slid an additional 25 feet and struck a culvert.

Both Wagner and a passenger, William R. Evans, 20, of 1231 Center Street, were taken to a doctor's office in Bluffs for treatment of facial cuts and bruises.

The demolished auto was towed to Jacksonville by wrecker.

QUICK BREADS TOPIC BEFORE WHITE HALL UNIT

WHITE HALL — The White Hall Day Unit of the Greene County Homemaker's Extension Service met Nov. 9 at the home of Mrs. C. L. Drake with Mrs. Paul Suttles co-hostess.

Robert Meldrum, chairman, presided at the business meeting, which opened with the pledge of allegiance. Mrs. Julian Hutchens served as secretary in the absence of Miss Dorothy M. Young.

Mrs. Meldrum gave the selected subject, on "Quick Breads." The Home Adviser, Mrs. Eloise Tholen, presented the Major lesson, "Keys to Good Eating and Health: Adequate nutrition for your family." Fifteen members and one guest, Mrs. Hansen, mother of Mrs.

Drake attended the meeting. The December meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Meldrum, on Dec. 9, instead of the regular date.

Danger Over Mrs. Hembrough

"It is probable but not certain," White said in a statement released by the Ft. Gordon press officer, "that there will be no further extension of the process."

Like the other physicians, White said that if all goes well Eisenhower should be able to resume a large part of his past activities, including golf.

White arrived Saturday, but apparently not through any feeling of urgency that he was needed.

A late morning medical bulletin from the six-man team of hospital staff physicians and consultants said:

"General Eisenhower had the best night since he was admitted to Ft. Gordon hospital. His temperature remains normal and circulatory state has been stable. He is in excellent spirits, had a good breakfast, after which he was examined by his consulting and staff physicians."

The Ft. Gordon press officer, Capt. Wallace Hitchcock, relayed this report to newsmen.

In answer to a question he said that as of Friday Eisenhower was in and out of an oxygen tent.

There has been a continuous monitoring of his chest beat and heart rhythm electronically on an oscilloscope, with doctors in relays watching the machine unceasingly.

Thus, while there is a renewed note of qualified cheerfulness around Ft. Gordon, there still is not much reason for anything like a normal birthday celebration Sunday for Mamie Eisenhower. The former First Lady will be 69.

Another physician, Paul Dudley White, arrived Saturday, but apparently not through any feeling of urgency that he was needed.

White is the Boston heart specialist who was the chief consultant when the 34th President suffered a major heart attack in Denver on Sept. 24, 1955.

This time the chief of the team handling the Eisenhower case is Dr. Thomas Mattingly of Washington, who also was on the 1955 roster of doctors.

Mattingly has been keeping White posted on Eisenhower's latest heart ailment.

Mattingly was talking Friday night in terms of getting his distinguished patient out of Ft. Gordon Hospital and into Walter Reed Army Hospital in Washington in a couple of weeks or so, dating from last Tuesday.

Ashland Plans Sale Of Water

ASHLAND — The Village Board discussed the sale of water at a meeting Nov. 9. A coin operated valve will be installed at the water softening plant and water will be sold at $2 per 1,000 gallons.

Vandalism at the reservoir site was discussed and signs will be posted. Parents were urged to warn their children of the danger of playing in the area.

Mayor Evans announced that Ashland was one of three towns being considered for the location of a small factory. Eight to 15 acres are needed for the site and questionnaires on facilities available are being sent to the firm.

Permission was granted to Glenn Brandt for placement of an anhydrous ammonia tank on the Mahoney property, northeast of town.

Art students of Mrs. Dorothy Kelton at JHS who won prizes in the recent Halloween art contest, sponsored by the local Exchange club, were guests of the club at dinner Monday night, Nov. 8th.

The students decorated windows of business houses. Prizes went to: first, $15, Carolyn Ankrom and Jim Ankrom, painting at Rogers Book Store; second, $10, Kathie Meyer, Carrol McLean, Kathi Perrone, Vanna Baker, for the painting at McCrory's.

Third prize, $5, Sandy Buchanan, Betty Tobow and Tom McKinney, painting at the A. and P. store.

Con Rourke spoke on Teen-age driving and the research in the past four years on accident. Rourke also spoke of the Exchange club bowling tournament at Waukegan. Jacksonville sponsored an entry team. The 1966 tourney will be held in Jacksonville.

Drake attended the meeting. The December meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Meldrum, on Dec. 9, instead of the regular date.

Otterville Church To Be Dedicated Nov. 21 Has Historical Past

JERSEYVILLE — Dedication services will be held Sunday, Nov. 21st, for the recently completed new Baptist church in the Village of Otterville. The new building replaces the old brick structure which was erected by the Baptist denomination shortly after the end of the Civil War.

Adjoining the north wall of the old brick church are the graves of Dr. Silas Hamilton who was responsible for the establishment of the first free school in Illinois; George Washington, colored, who established the George Washington Educational Fund through his will for the education of people of his race, and Gilbert Douglas, a cousin of the famous Illinois Civil War time senator, Stephen A. Douglas.

The dedicatory address for the new church, November 21st, will be delivered by the Reverend Lloyd Spencer of Rochelle, former missionary of the Alton Industrial Association. Former pastors of the church have been invited to participate in the program which will begin at 2 p.m.

The Reverend L. H. Moore of Carbondale, editor of the Illinois Baptist newspaper, has been invited to be guest speaker at the morning worship service.

Adjoins Ed Building
The new church building is of frame construction. It is 34 by 60 feet and is connected with the educational building erected in 1954 by a 20 by 24 foot building that houses the nursery, secretary's office and rest room facilities. The educational building is 30 by 56 feet and is erected over a full basement.

In May, 1964, the congregation named a survey and planning committee, and in July of that year a building committee was selected. Plans for the church building were approved in May of this year and building got under way July 2nd. The new church has been in use since October 24th. The church and its furnishings are valued at $3200.00.

Loosing Pastor
The present pastor of the church, the Reverend Vale Walkington has tendered his resignation to accept a call to the Baptist church in White Hall, the Calvary Baptist church. Rev. Walkington has served the Otterville church since January, 1962. He will conclude his pastorate in Otterville on the church dedication Sunday.

Reverend and Mrs. Walkington will move to their new home in White Hall after Thanksgiving. They have four children: James, a student at Clarke Memorial College, Newton, Miss.; Ernest Ray, employed at Murrayville; Robert Dean, a freshman at Jersey Community High School and Stephen Lee at home.

Dates From 1855
The old history of Greene and Jersey counties records that in June, 1855, the religious society known as the Otter Creek Baptist Church was organized by Reverend B. B. Hamilton, A. Dodson, H. C. Tilton, Aaron Dodson, J. W. Terry, David Matlock, Reverend Glam and George Robinson.

Spartans Rally To 27-13 Edge; Illini Romp To 51-0 Margin

Grabowski Sparks Easy Illinois Win

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Illinois, taking advantage of a fumbling, bumbling Wisconsin offense, scored 23 points in the third period and rolled to a 51-0 Big Ten football victory Saturday over a Badger team that didn't do anything right.

The defeat was the worst administered to the Badgers since 1916 when Minnesota crushed them 54-0.

Jim Grabowski and Sam Price led the touchdown parade with two apiece to pin the third consecutive conference drubbing on the Badgers, who conceivably could have led at halftime by two touchdowns.

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Illinois fullback Jim Grabowski tied one Big Ten football record and snapped another Saturday in leading the Illini to a 51-0 victory over Wisconsin.

Grabowski carried the ball 38 times, tying a mark set in 1943 by Ernie Parks of Ohio State. Grabowski, who gained 196

Garrett Scores Three As USC Downs Pitt 28-0

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Halfback Mike Garrett scored three touchdowns and carried the ball for 156 yards as Southern California shut out Pittsburgh Saturday 28-0 in Memorial Coliseum.

The victory left Southern Cal with a season record of 6-1-1 and set the stage for its big game with UCLA in their Rose Bowl bid next Saturday.

It was the seventh loss for Pitt.

The heavily-favored Trojans, performing before 40,339, set the pattern after taking the opening kickoff.

Garrett led the Trojans 78 yards to their first touchdown. Southern Cal cracked a quick touchdown in the second period when Adrain Young fell on the ball on the Panther's seven after quarterback Kenny Lucas fumbled on a pass attempt.

Garrett swept around left end on the first play and the Trojans led at halftime 14-0.

It was Garrett again in the third quarter when the Trojans marched 66 yards in 10 plays.

Halfback Don McCall scored the fourth touchdown. Garrett wasn't playing at the time.

Devlin Leading In Aussie Meet

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Doug Sanders of Ojai, Calif., faded to a 74 Saturday and fell two strokes back of Australian Bruce Devlin in the second round of the 72-hole Dunlop International Golf Tournament.

Devlin, a regular on the U.S. pro tour, added a 70 to his earlier 71 over the 6,634, par 73 Yarra Yarra course for a 36-hole total of 141 and a one stroke lead over the field.

Second to him was Bob Swinbourne, a Sydney professional, with 69-73—142, followed by Sanders, with 69-74—143. Swinbourne and Sanders had led the opening round with 69s.

The final 36 holes are scheduled Sunday.

Peter Thomson, five-time British Open champion playing in his home city, had a 74 for 145, and Bob Charles, the left-handed New Zealander, also shot 74 for 147.

Sloan Smashes Namath Records In 35-14 Romp

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Passing artist Steve Sloan smashed two Joe Namath passing records Saturday and led Alabama to 35-14 football victory over South Carolina.

The Crimson Tide senior threw two touchdown passes and set up two others.

Sloan also scored Alabama's first touchdown on a two-yard plunge. During the initial drive he set a school season completion record when he hit end Ray Perkins with a nine-yard pass. It was Sloan's 77th completion and broke the record of 76 set by Namath in 1962.

In the fourth quarter, Sloan hurled a 39-yard scoring pass to halfback Dennis Homan and brought his season passing total to 1,227 yards, another school record.

South Carolina dominated play in the first half after Alabama drove to its first touchdown. But the Gamecocks were not able to find the scoring range until the third quarter after Alabama had scored another touchdown.

With about four minutes left Alabama marched for its final touchdown. Kenny Stabler capped the drive with a three-yard slant through tackle for the score.

Clay, Patterson In Final Week Of Preparation

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay and ex-champion Floyd Patterson swing into the final week of preparation Sunday for their title 15-rounder Nov. 22, a match that as yet has not broken into the usual Clay-inspired furor.

Clay, or as he insists, Muhammad Ali, has refrained from his familiar bombastics, but has declared he would knock Patterson after "after I punish him seven or eight rounds."

Patterson has been even quieter than usual and has even taken his training program into seclusion. In fact, he has not drilled in public since last Sunday when a sparring partner, heavyweight Mel Turnbow of Cincinnati, twice floored him with rights to the head.

46 JHS Frosh Earn Numerals

The JHS freshman team this season came on strong, winning seven straight after losing to Canton in the first game of the year.

During the year the young Crimson scored 154 points, to 45 by their opponents. Also during the season the freshmen introduced the "fifth quarter" which allowed all the players who didn't see much action in the regular game to play in an organized game.

Dan Moy, Rich Jones and Gary Spangenberg were the frosh coaches, and Richard and Robert Evans the managers.

Bradley 25, W-Milwaukee 13 MILWAUKEE (AP) — Bob Caress steered Bradley on a 75-yard fourth - quarter scoring drive to overcome stubborn Wisconsin-Milwaukee for a 25-13 football victory Saturday.

Caress pitched the final 11 yards to Jim Terrey to wipe out a 13-12 deficit. He later added a 2-yard scoring toss to Hal Montville on the final play of the game after the Panthers had lost the ball on downs deep in their own territory.

The Bradley quarterback, who already holds practically all of his school's offensive records, completed 24 of 43 passes for 246 yards and three touchdowns. Montville caught the first scoring throw for 18 yards in the first half.

Bradley's victory was its fourth in nine games with one left. Wisconsin-Milwaukee finished its fall campaign at 2-6.

Irish Break Loose In 4th For 17-0 Edge

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Frustrated by fumbles for three quarters, fourth-ranked Notre Dame broke loose after Ken Eddy's 38-yard field goal with two scoring runs by Nick Eddy to defeat North Carolina 17-0 Saturday.

After driving to the North Carolina four in the first quarter and to the five in the second without success Notre Dame finally cranked up a payoff drive in the fading minutes of the third. The Irish drilled 64 yards but had to settle for Eddy's field goal at 1:41 of the fourth.

From then on, the flood gates were open.

Halfback Eddy broke loose near the sidelines and streaked 66 yards for the first touchdown with 7:35 remaining.

In the final minutes, Danny Talbot's pass was stolen by Mike McGill on the North Carolina 41. It took the Irish only seven plays to score, with Eddy crashing the final three.

Ivan added both extra points. It was the first time in 26 games that North Carolina had been shut out.

Until this breakthrough, Eddy, Zloch, Larry Conjar and Robert Bleier ran everywhere on the field but across the goal line as the Irish dominated play.

Midway in the first quarter, the Irish smashed 55 yards to the four as Zloch hit Conjar for 23 yards and Eddy and Conjar each ran for nine. Then Zloch fumbled and Jay Malobicky recovered for the Tar Heels.

Later, Eddy's bobble was captured by Henry Sadler on the North Carolina 28 and the Tar Heels marched 48 yards to the 24. This threat was ended by Tom Lampman's fumble.

The Irish then drove 69 yards, mainly on the running of Eddy and Bleier, but the Tar Heels stopped it on the five.

Notre Dame fumbled the ball away again in the third. Eddy yielded it after being jarred by Bo Wood, and Joe Fratalone recovered on the Irish 47. From there, Talbot led a push to the 25. He tried a field goal from the 33 but it was wide.

Ortiz Takes Crown Back On Decision

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — Carlos Ortiz won back his world lightweight boxing crown Saturday night, pounding out a unanimous decision with his powerful left hand over Ismael Laguna of Panama in 15 rounds.

Knowing he was behind on points, Lagu tried to take the fight to Ortiz in the final rounds and nearly was floored in the 12th and 13th.

Ortiz had lost his crown to Laguna in Panama on April 10. He had blamed poor conditioning for the defeat. But Saturday night, fighting in his native Puerto Rico, he never tired.

Laguena weighed 133, two pounds less than the 29-year-old Ortiz.

Laguena, an excellent boxer, tried to tire Ortiz with constant movement and a damaging left jab. But almost every time he moved in, Ortiz would meet him with a left hook and often followed with a damaging right.

There were no knockdowns and no cuts.

Judge Enrique Boyd of Panama scored it 145-143. Judge Jose Soto had it 150-138. Referee Rocky Marciano made it 148-143, all for Ortiz under the 10 point must system. The AP's card was 148-140 also for Ortiz.

New Look Among Big College's Coaching Ranks

NEW YORK (AP) — There will be a new look to the college basketball season that opens in little more than two weeks on Dec. 1. Nearly 50 coaching changes have been made since UCLA won the national championship by beating Michigan last March.

Still on the job will be such veterans as Johnny Wooden of UCLA, Adolph Rupp of Kentucky and Hank Hail of Oklahoma State, but missing will be the equally famous Joe Lapchick of St. John's, N.Y., Bones McKinney of Wake Forest, Branch McCracken of Indiana, Ed Jucker of Cincinnati, Chuck Orsborn of Bradley, Fordy Anderson of Michigan State and Taps Gallagher of Niagara.

Joe Carnesecca has replaced Lapchick at St. John's, Jack Murdock has stepped into McKinney's shoes, Lou Watson succeeded McCracken, Tay Baker took Jucker's place, Joe Stowell succeeded Orsborn, John Benington switched from St. Louis to replace Anderson and Jim Maloney replaced Gallagher.

Joe Brehmer is the new St. Louis coach, succeeding Benington. In two other major changes George King resigned as West Virginia coach to succeed Ray Eddy at Purdue and Raymond C. Buckley Waters, an assistant coach at Duke, was named to succeed King as head coach of the Mountaineers.

Bob Knight moved up to head coach at Army when Taylor Locke resigned to join the athletic staff at Miami of Ohio, where he will serve this season as coach of the frosh.

NO DRAFT DATE CHANGE

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League announced Saturday that its annual college draft would be held Nov. 27, as originally planned.

The announcement came from Pete Rozelle, NFL commissioner.

The American Football League moved its draft up a week to Nov. 20, drawing criticism from college heads who said the move was a break in the agreement between the pros and the colleges.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Tennessee lost its lucky charm Saturday and Mississippi knocked the Vols from the unbeaten ranks, 14-13, behind rookie quarterback Joe Graves.

On his first play, Tennessee quarterback Charles Fulton gained an unlikely 13 yards and hobbled from the field with a bruised foot.

After that, Tennessee played well but Ole Miss just had better stuff, chiefly from discovering that Graves had the spark the Rebels lacked all season. Graves piled up big yardage running and throwing and had the big play that finally broke the game open. It was eight-yard gainer to the one-foot marker when the Rebels faced a fourth-and-one situation in the last quarter.

On the next play tailback Mike Dennis scored and Jimmy Keyes' point after put Tennessee behind for the first time this season.

Win Big Ten Title And Claim To Bowl

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State won the Big Ten football championship Saturday and a clear-cut claim to the Rose Bowl by coming from behind and overcoming an unexpectedly stubborn Indiana 27-13.

A crowd of 75,280 saw the thriller played in a gusty wind in 39 degree cold.

Indiana, unable to gain through the powerful Spartan line, took to the air with sensational success. Quarterback Frank Stavroff connected repeatedly with long tosses to Bill Malinchak and Bill Cough, a player who had never before caught a pass in a college game.

This was the first undisputed Big Ten title that Michigan State has ever won and although the conference athletic directors must vote on the Big Ten's representative in the Rose Bowl there was no doubt it would be Michigan State.

Ahead of Michigan State in its quest for the national championship lies Notre Dame, victor Saturday over North Carolina 17-0.

After the Spartans built up a 10-0 lead, Indiana cut it to 10-7 by halftime with a drive that started from Indiana's 21. This was highlighted by a 46-yard pass to Malinchak on the State 10. Couch took the seven-yard touchdown pass.

In the third period Indiana went ahead, driving 77 yards in 13 plays and virtually all of it via passes, with Stavroff punching over from the one.

Rickey collapsed into a chair beside the podium.

A doctor in the audience rushed to Rickey's side and he was taken immediately to a Columbia Hospital.

The 84-year-old Rickey was in the process of being inducted into the Missouri Hall of Fame at the banquet.

Jacksonville's Ladies Education Society Is Adopted By Federation

Much speculation followed the publication in early October in the Jacksonville Courier and the Jacksonville Journal of an article crediting Jacksonville with having in existence the oldest woman's club in the United States.

The material was released by the General Federation of Women's Clubs, with headquarters in Washington, D.C. The newspaper article coincided with the October issue of the General Federation Clubwomen, which featured stories on the women's clubs organized before 1870 under the heading, Brave Steps into a New World.

The name of the local club holding the signal distinction is the Ladies Education Society and it is still in existence although there is little or no publicity regarding its meetings.

The Ladies Education Society was made an 'honorary member' of the G.F.W.C. many years ago. The society was organized in 1838 by wives of the original faculty at Illinois College. This group wished to educate women on the new frontier in the mid-west and provide opportunity to young women seeking a higher education. Annually the Society helps finance an education for, from four to five girls.

Over the years the Society has aided hundreds of girls to receive higher education. The Ladies Education Society is small, holding its membership to twelve. The group only meets when it has business to transact and on Nov. 4th of this year held its 132nd annual meeting at the home of the secretary, Mrs. Vorce Bassett. At that time there was an

with ED GARLICH

Some Notes On Agriculture's Future! U. S. population to be approximately 250 million in fifty years. Expected to reach 310 million by 1995. More people in the "family farming" group which means they will be good prospects for increased food sales.

Americans with better incomes will eat more meat and meat generally means more returns to producers.

Still the family's food takes only 18% of take home pay now compared to 27% back in 1947. As demand for food increases, as surpluses become a blessing instead of a blight, rural poverty will be known for what it is instead of the "farm problem". Washington is expected to concentrate more on foreign and domestic food problems and less on controlling production.

"I love it alone," he said. "If it doesn't go away in a few days we'll call a doctor."

Polled Hereford Show And Sale In Springfield

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — The 1965 National Polled Hereford show and sale in Springfield, Ill., Dec. 9-11, will be the largest in the 43-year history of the annual event. A record number of 413 of America's finest Polled Herefords are entering, according to Orville K. Sweet, executive secretary of the organization.

Naturally hornless whiteface cattle are entered from coast to coast, from New York to Maryland to the east and from as far west as California, Washington and Oregon. Entries have come from Wisconsin to the north and from as far south as Mississippi and Texas.

A total of 18 states are represented by the 64 prominent Polled Hereford herds that have entered cattle. This is considered excellent for any national-scale show and sale.

The annual show and sale is internationally recognized as the most significant and influential Polled Hereford event in the world every year. It is expected to attract 3,000 to 4,000 spectators from all over the United States and Canada as well as from several foreign countries. Sweet said.

The 1965 National will be conducted in the heated main arena of the recently-completed Junior Activities Building at the Illinois State Fair. A total of $10,000 in premiums will be offered.

Dairy Cows Flourish On Simple Rations

Complex grain mixtures made up of 10 or more ingredients can make excellent dairy feed. But a recent University of Illinois DHIA study indicates that the average dairyman with good-quality roughage cannot afford to pay much of a premium for such mixtures.

"Our records show that a sizable portion of last year's DHIA members got high milk production and good returns over feed cost by using simple grain mixtures to supplement their roughage feeding program," explains Leo Fryman, U. of I. extension dairy scientist.

Fryman says that one segment of the study compared 172 DHIA herds receiving corn as the only farm grain with 552 herds that received oats and corn in the grain mixture. All of the herds received protein and mineral supplements.

"Production and returns were nearly equal for the two groups," Fryman explains. "These results suggest that the relative price of corn and oats should determine whether to feed oats in the ration. When one pound of oats is worth more on the market than one pound of corn, it's questionable whether the dairyman should feed oats."

Fryman says about one-fifth of the DHIA herds studied last year were receiving a single protein supplement along with farm grains and mineral supplements. The rest were fed either a commercial protein supplement or a combination of two or more protein supplements. Some mixtures contained as many as 10 different ingredients. "The small differences among the groups were not significant," Fryman explains. "When the same price was used for milk, returns over feed costs averaged only $1 higher for cows receiving a combination of supplements than for cows getting a commercial supplement or a simple, single-protein supplement."

Chicago Stock Show May Set New Peaks

CHICAGO — Record high entries are building up for the 66th edition of the International Live Stock Exposition, the show management reports.

It will be held here Nov. 26 to Dec. 4 in the 13-acre International Amphitheatre at the Chicago Stock Yards. Its competitions will feature 37 different breeds of farm animals.

Predict Big Entries Final tallies of the number of entries in the many competitions featured at this event have not yet been compiled, but show officials predict new record highs in many areas of the exposition, based on the heavy volume of early entries that has been received.

It is the country's final and largest stock show of the year. Stockmen call it "The World's Series" wind-up of the hundreds of shows and fairs that are held annually preceding the Chicago exposition.

Farm youth will be in the time-light on the opening day,

ILLINOIS OUTLOOK LETTER

PRICE OF FARMLAND CONTINUES UPWARD

Prices of farmland have been going up almost continuously for 30 years. We think that prices will be still higher 30 years from now, but some periods of decline are to be expected, especially if government expenditures for farm price supports are reduced.

According to a recent USDA report, the average value of U.S. farmland last March 1 was $146 an acre — more than 4½ times the value of 30 years ago. The rise in values has been interrupted only twice in the past 30 years. There were slight dips in 1949 and in 1952-1953. These dips in land values coincided with the sharp drops in prices of farm products after the end of World War II and the Korean War.

The average values of Illinois farmland last March was estimated at $371 an acre — over five times the value of 30 years ago. Illinois land values are the highest in the nation, except for a few states where prices are lifted by strong demand for residential uses or the production of intensive crops under irrigation. In comparison with Illinois' price of $371 an acre, corresponding values in nearby states were Indiana, $311; Iowa, $278; and Missouri and Wisconsin, $147.

The average price of Illinois farmland went up 7 percent in the year ended last March. This was the biggest increase for any midwestern state. Neighboring states reported increases as follows: Indiana and Missouri, 6 percent; Iowa, 4 percent; and Wisconsin, 3 percent.

The national average increase in farmland values last year was 6 percent. Larger than average increases (8 percent or more) were recorded in nine southern states and in Pennsylvania, Maryland, and California. Smaller than average increases were reported in the Northeast, the Lake States, Iowa, the Northern Plains, and the Western States (except California).

For many years we have heard claims that land values were "too high." It was said that the land could not produce enough income to make it a good investment. Buying land probably has been a poor investment for some people. But with average or better management, land has been a very good investment.

High Returns An investment of $100 in farmland 30 years ago would have returned $831 in earnings, and the original $100 investment would have grown to $410. The earnings plus the increase in value of the land would be $1,140. By contrast, $100 invested in bonds yielding 3½ percent would have returned only $105 in 30 years.

A recent analysis by the USDA shows that during the past five years the average rate of return on farmland has been 3.5 percent after payment of all expenses and allowances for family labor and management. This rate does not take into account the rise in land values.

During the past five years, the appreciation in land values has averaged about 5.2 percent, which is 1½ times the realized to land from farming.

Land values are expected to rise further during the next 30 years. There will be no appreciable increase in the amount of good farm land that is available. If recent trends continue, our population will almost double during the next 30 years. World population may also double, placing increased demands upon U.S. agriculture. Finally, inflation seems to have become an accepted habit that will tend to raise the prices of almost everything.

BRIMFUL and running over

By Jim Brim

Each year many people are killed by firearms. It seems that, as in the case of drownings, the victims are frequently of high school age. Much pleasure can be derived from proper use of guns. Never point a gun at anyone even if you think it is unloaded. Unload firearms before putting them away and keep them out of reach of children.

When carrying a gun keep the muzzle pointed up or down, never toward another person. When climbing a fence put the gun over first after unloading it. Be especially careful when hunting to be sure no one is near. Wear a red or orange cap or jacket when in the woods during the hunting season.

When you go hunting be sure you obtain permission of the land owner and then have respect for others property for you may desire to hunt there again.

If you are hunting from a boat or must take a boat to a blind observe boating safety rules also. Even good swimmers have trouble in the water with winter clothes on — buy and use good life preservers. Observe hunting rules and regulations.

Now You Should Kill rats. Buy Mom a new coat. Invite guests for Thanksgiving.

Read Mathew 11:28-29. Write to your congressman express your opinions to him. Put some money in the bank.

Many counties hold a series of extension meetings during the winter. Check with your farm adviser about them if you don't know about them. Morgan County will have meetings on Beef Feeds, Corn Production, Farm Records and Estate Planning.

As a modern farmer you need to learn about new practices. Many common practices of today weren't even thought of fifteen years ago and many of today's practices won't be used a short time from now. You must use every way possible to continue to do a good job.

Get flu shots. Doctors now agree they help and reports seem to indicate a lot of it will be around this winter.

The man who fails to plan plans to fail.

Farmers Receive Financial Aid Through FHA

Several family farms and the rural community were strengthened during fiscal 1965 by Farmers Home Administration's ownership loan program, Norman T. Torrens, the agency's county supervisor for Brown, Cass, and Morgan counties, reported last week.

He said that approximately $65,000 was loaned to four family farmers to buy, enlarge, or develop farms or to refinance debts, and that an additional 61 farm families continued to use Farmers Home Administration credit obtained in previous years.

"This supervised loan assistance — tailored to the individual borrower's needs — was made available only to family farm operators unable to obtain reasonable credit from other sources, and determined eligible by local farmer committees," Torrens explained.

Included in this credit total were loans for $39,000 made to farm families last year for purchase and improvement of needed land and construction or repair of farm buildings. Some $25,700 in loans were made to farmers of the tri-county area for financing debts and developing their farms.

"These farmers were in financial difficulty mainly from causes beyond their control. Without Farmers Home Administration credit, they might have been forced to leave the land and migrate to the cities," Torrens said.

He noted the contribution of the family farmers to the economic growth of the west central Illinois communities. "Progressive family farms strengthen the tax base which supports community institutions and increase the cash flow along Main Street," Torrens emphasized.

Plans For '66 Wheat Program In Morgan County Outlined

To help farmers make plans this fall Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman has announced highlights of the 1966 wheat program. The wheat program is part of the new Food and Agriculture Act of 1965 recently enacted by Congress.

The Secretary said that farmers who participate in the 1966 wheat program will receive a higher return per bushel in the new program than they did under the 1965 program.

Edw. J. Meagher, chairman, Illinois Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, said wheat farmers have already been notified of their farm allotments for 1966. There will be no fall sign-up period for winter wheat growers. Sign-up for wheat will be conducted after the first of the year at the same time as feed grain.

Farm projected yields are now being determined. ASCS Office Manager Wallace Hemmrough announced, and each wheat farmer will be notified of his projected yield before sign-up time. The projected yield is the yield established for program purposes and under the new law consideration is given to current operations and production as well as past production. Yields established for 1966 should more nearly reflect expected production under current cultural practices and normal weather conditions.

Wheat farmers who sign up and participate in the program will be eligible for a national average price-support loan of $1.25 per bushel on all production of their allotted acres plus domestic certificates on 45 percent of the projected yield for the farm allotment.

Domestic Use The domestic certificates to farmers will be valued at the difference between the national average loan rate of $1.25 per bushel and parity as of July 1, 1966, the beginning of the marketing year. (Parity for wheat for October was $2.56.) Options available to participating farmers in deciding on their operations for 1966 include:

Substitution of wheat for feed grains or feed grains for wheat acreage where the farmer is participating in both programs.

Barley will be considered as a feed grain in the 1966 program.

Substitution of wheat for oats and/or rye provided the farmer is participating in the feed grain program. The oats-rye bases will be adjusted, however, to account for the difference in feed units between these crops.

Producers may sign up for voluntary diversion of up to 50 percent of the allotment to conserving uses, with a payment rate to be announced later. Farmers with 1966 wheat allotments of 21.7 acres or less may divert their entire allotment for payment. (In 1965, the maximum voluntary additional diversion for payment was 20 percent of the 1965 wheat allotment or 13.5 acres, whichever was larger.)

The cost of domestic certificates to processors will be 75 cents per bushel, the same as in 1965.

Export Business No export certificates will be issued to farmers, but there will be a variable export certificate to be valued daily at an amount necessary to make U.S. wheat available at prices comparable to world market prices.

When U.S. prices are above world market prices, certificates will have no value and an export subsidy reflecting the difference between the U.S. and world price levels will be paid to exporters. If world prices are above U.S. prices, the certificate value will be the difference between the U.S. and world prices, and will be collected from exporters.

A pool will be maintained and any possible net receipts (certificate payment by exporters less Government export payments) would be apportioned among co-operating producers at the end of the marketing year.

"This new provision assures that U.S. wheat producers will receive the benefit of the higher world prices should they occur, while maintaining a competitive relationship for feed wheat and feed grains in the U.S. market," Hemmrough said.

Communists Still Reaching For Power In Dominican

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Still reaching for power, the numerically small but always vocal and violent Communists are concentrating their efforts on attempts to dominate student, labor and peasant groups in the Dominican Republic.

They are trying to build a "united anti-imperialist front" which they apparently hope will force the Inter-American Peace Force of the Organization of American States to withdraw from this capital.

The levers the Communists use for this anti-Yankeeism and nationalism. Nationalism has been flagging among a people weary of the civil conflict which began with a revolutionary movement last April, but the extreme left loses no opportunity to revive it.

When 2,000 battleready OAS troops occupied the heart of Santo Domingo and the rebel area last week, the extreme left provoked noisy demonstrations. Although these were confined to a few streets in a city of a half million, they indicated resourcefulness and determination of three Communist organizations.

According to U.S. and Dominican intelligence figures, the numerical strength of the militants in the three Communist parties is divided this way: The 14th of June Movement, Castroist, between 1,500 and 2,000; the Dominican Popular Movement, reflecting the pro-Chinese viewpoint, about 800, and the pro-Moscow Dominican Communist party, about 700.

The "anti-imperialist front" drive is an objective common to almost all political parties in the Caribbean island nation, including the Dominican Revolutionary party of former President Juan Bosch and the Social Christians. But it is the keystone of the Communist effort.

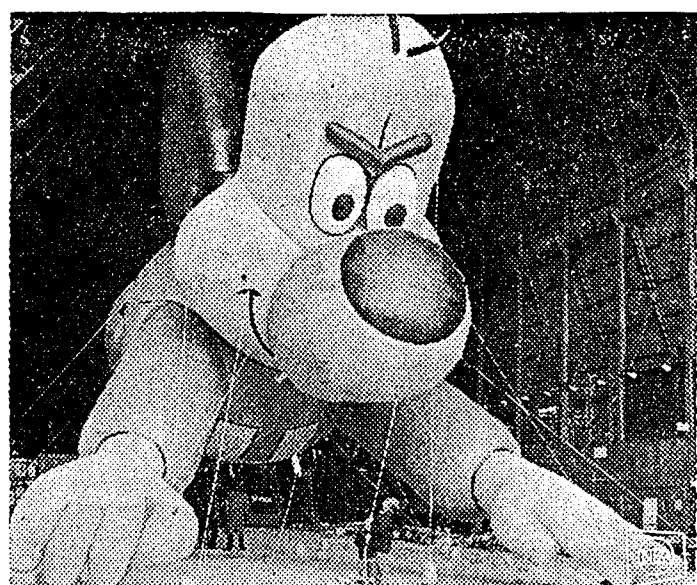

The Bosch party and the Social Christians have balked at linking up with the Communist groupings on such a project, but joint action in the future cannot be ruled out.

It is known, for example, that the extreme left is planning to oppose spring elections on the ground that honest balloting will be impossible as long as OAS troops remain in the country. This would provide fuel to build the "anti-imperialist" fire.

In an attempt to insure their control over any such emerging front, the Communists direct their main efforts at student, labor and peasant groups, while attempting also to influence lower ranks of the military.

Their propaganda argues that the rebel "constitutionalists" were victorious in recent fighting, and that they are entitled to the spoils.

NEWCOMER — New this year in the annual Macy's Thanksgiving Day parade in New York City will be this balloon replica of the cartoon character "Underdog." Temporary doghouse for the 63-foot bag filled with 8,000 cubic feet of helium gas is the Goodyear blimp hangar at Akron, Ohio. (NEA Telephoto)

JUDGE FORBIDS CHANGE OF PLEA

BEARDSTOWN — After hearing a not guilty plea and setting bond for a defendant in Circuit Court here Friday morning, Associate Judge Fred W. Reither refused to allow Gerald Fortney to change his plea to guilty.

Fortney, formerly of this city, later of Montana and now of Peoria, was arrested Thursday on charges of driving while intoxicated. When arraigned Friday he pleaded not guilty and his bond was set at $2,000. Shortly afterwards, before court had adjourned, he asked to change his plea, to guilty, and claimed that another person had been driving his car.

Judge Reither refused to accept the guilty plea, set a hearing date and advised Fortney to secure the services of an attorney.

Fishermen Fined

Charles Swan and Carl Hood pleaded guilty in Circuit Court Friday to illegal fishing and were fined $25 each.

Recent information tells us that few migrating birds fly above 3,000 feet, at or near sea level, contrary to former observers of bird migration. Most of them fly below 1,300 feet. However, ducks and geese have been recorded at heights of 5,000 feet and, in the Himalayas, migrating birds fly as high as 18,000 feet through mountain passes. Migrating birds vary in cruising speed; the larger geese are fastest, some flying as fast as 60 m.p.h.

Disturbs Many Churchmen

Book Claims Jesus Planned Crucifixion

By GODFREY ANDERSON
LONDON (AP) — A controversial new book claiming that Jesus planned his own crucifixion is disturbing many churchmen of all denominations in Britain.

The book—titled "The Passover Plot"—suggests that Jesus, believing himself to be the promised Messiah, schemed throughout his life to manipulate people so that the Old Testament prophecies would be fulfilled.

The writer is Dr. Hugh J. Schonfield, a Jewish scholar living in London, well-known for his modern translation of the New Testament and some 30 commentaries on Biblical history.

Published here by Hutchinson, the book will appear in the United States when negotiations over the rights are concluded. Schonfield, 64, says he subscribes to no religious creed himself though he believes in God as pure spirit. He insists he has written his book not to create a sensation but in an honest search for truth. His claims, he says, are the result of more than 40 years of objective research.

Writing of the events of Passion Week, Schonfield says: "A conspiracy had to be organized of which the victim himself was the principal instigator. It was a nightmarish conception and undertaking, the outcome of the frightening logic of a sick mind, or a genius. And it worked out."

According to Schonfield, Jesus knew the church had to be founded on fulfillment of prophecies, so he planned that fulfillment in the minutest detail. He timed the plan for his apparent death so that he would be crucified on Friday, knowing that because of the Jewish Sabbath he would be taken down from the cross within a few hours.

Schonfield claims: — The vinegar passed to Jesus on a sponge was really a drug passed by an accomplice, enabling him to simulate death, so his legs would not be broken like those of the two thieves crucified with him. The blood that flowed from his side showed he was still living, Schonfield claims.

The linens and spices used to wrap his body acted as dressings for his injuries. He probably briefly recovered consciousness after being laid in the tomb, but succumbed from the soldier's lance wound in his side. His body was secretly taken away and buried, leaving the mystery of the empty tomb.

Throughout, Schonfield seems anxious to avoid appearing an anti-Christian propagandist. He insists nothing can be proved either way. And, in arguing that Jesus did not die on the cross and that his resurrection was part of a prearranged plan, he insists there was no deliberate untruth in the witness of Christ's followers.

Neither was there any fraud on the part of Jesus himself, Schonfield says. "He had schemed in faith for his physical recovery, and what he expected was frustrated by circumstances beyond his control," Schonfield writes.

Church leaders in Britain have thus far withheld public comment on the book. Two Church of England priests who read it said they took it seriously although they disapproved. Scores of earnest churchgoers wrote to the newspapers, mostly in condemnation of the book.

ROUNDUP FROM BEARDSTOWN SHOWS UP IN VIET NAM

BEARDSTOWN — The Roundup has been finding its way to Vietnam. The parents of at least 4 vets said they send the clippings regularly. Latest to tell of his scheme is "Q" Engineer Hymes whose son was injured in a Viet Cong booby trap and is now on crutches due to two broken bones in his foot.

On their recent deer hunting trip to Colorado, Albert Huston, postal employee and Lyle Taylor, city policeman, bagged a deer each. They claim their 16 hour straight through drive west was "worth it."

Mrs. Charles (Gwen) Boyd of this city was a speaker in Brown county at Mt. Sterling on the occasion of the observance of Veterans Day Thursday morning. Mrs. Boyd, former state president of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Illinois Legion, is now occupying an important position as a member of the national executive committee. The attractive "Wienermobiles," an Oscar Mayer trophy which became popular here at the time of the Oscar Mayer Day, are to be made available to Beardstownians for a short time after Nov. 15. At the request of the Beardstown Chamber of Commerce, which has had hundreds of inquiries, the Mayer company has agreed to give a "Wienermobile" in exchange for a coupon to be found in Oscar Mayer Products purchased in local stores. The Wienermobile is a replica of the large vehicle, fashioned like an Oscar Mayer wiener, which is used in the company advertising program.

Opening lead—♦J.

As a windup to the series of articles on limit raises, we will discuss showing maximum support after passing.

You can't use two no-trump here. There is too much need for it as a normal response by a passed hand. However, there is one bid that is readily available. That is the bid of three no-trump. You just can't pass a hand that warrants a real three no-trump bid after partner opens in third or fourth seat, but you can pass a hand that has tremendous support for partner's suit.

Today's North hand is one. He has almost enough for an opening bid and when his partner opens with one spade, North wants to make sure of reaching a spade game or slam. He shows this by jumping to three no-trump!

Remember that this particular three no-trump bid is a force to four spades and shows no desire to play in no-trump.

The hand is a lay-down grand slam because South can draw trumps with two leads and eventually ruff out two diamonds and a club. It also is not likely to be reached without use of this Jacoby convention but is rather easy to reach with it.

South's four - diamond bid shows the ace and invites a slam. North's four heart bid shows that ace and accepts the invitation. The five club call is another cue bid. The bids of five diamonds, five hearts and six clubs are all meant to show second round control and this makes it easy for South to jump right to the grand slam.

Two controls—two sleeping comforts in one Electric Blanket

an Electric Blanket lets you dial the sleeping temperature you like best
(pleasant dreams)

Warmth without weight—that's the beauty of an electric blanket. It's light as a feather, yet keeps you as warm as three ordinary, heavyweight blankets
—if that's the way you like it.

And an electric blanket with dual controls allows both husband and wife to dial the sleeping temperature each prefers.

An electric blanket for every bed in the house

makes good sense. You'll have far less bedding to store . . . and a happy, well-rested family at breakfast time.

WASHINGTON, D. C. —

Rep. Paul Findley (R-Ill.) has prepared a detailed progress report of P.L. 566 watershed projects for 1965 in the 20th District, based on data furnished by the soil conservation service of the Department of Agriculture.

Big Blue Creek Watershed is located in Pike county and comprises 26,690 acres (41.7 square miles). Big Blue Creek is a tributary of the Illinois River. The application was sponsored by the Pike County Soil and Water Conservation District and the City of Pittsfield.

This application was approved by the Governor of Illinois, July 24, 1958. The problems in the watershed consisted of floodwater damage to agricultural bottomlands, with consequent erosion and sediment damages, and sheet and gully erosion in the uplands.

There was a need for municipal water supply for the City of Pittsfield. The project was approved for planning by the administrator of the soil conservation service on October 20, 1958. The completed work plan outlined the following structural works of improvement:

Land treatment measures were established to prevent excessive siltation of the structural measures, and to protect the land in the watershed. The project was approved for operations

by the United States Department of Agriculture, June 25, 1959, and was completed during the fiscal year 1962.

The work plan shows an estimated federal cost of $135,230, with an estimated local cost of $472,127, for a total estimated project cost of $607,357.

Coal and Crane Creek Watershed

Coal and Crane Creek Watershed consists of 30,780 acres (60.6 square miles) in Schuyler county. The watershed drains into the Illinois River. The sponsors of the application are Crane Creek drainage and levee district, Coal Creek drainage and levee district and the Schuyler county soil and water conservation district.

The governor approved the application on July 1, 1961 and the administrator of the soil conservation service approved the project for planning January 14, 1963. The major problems are gully erosion in the upland, causing sedimentation damages of the drainage district ditches and flooding of productive agricultural bottomland.

Three debris basins and two floodwater detention structures were studied in the preliminary investigation.

The completion of the work plan was held up pending the reevaluation of the land treatment program in the upland area of the watershed.

Additional surveys were required to study stabilization

A revised draft work plan is being prepared including 10 additional small flood retarding structures and possibly water

City of Rushville.

Hager-Slough Watershed

Hager-Slough watershed consists of 12,684 acres (9.8 square miles) in Cass county, which drains into the Illinois River.

The application was submitted by the Cass county soil and water conservation district and the Hager-Slough drainage district.

The Governor of Illinois approved

the application for assistance

on August 24, 1962.

The watershed problems, as given in the application, are sheet and gully erosion in the uplands resulting in siltation of the drainage ditches, and flooding of the agricultural bottomland.

The preliminary investigation report showed that the project was not economically justified. Planning assistance was terminated in October 1964.

Hambaugh-Martin Watershed is located in Brown county and covers 8,601 acres (13.4 square miles). The area is drained by many intermittent streams which are tributary to the Illinois River.

The application was sponsored by the Brown county soil and water conservation district and the McGee Creek levee and drainage district. The Governor of Illinois approved the application in January 1958. The major problem was the deposition of sediment in the bottomland drainage ditches which caused periodic cleanouts to be necessary.

The upland bluff area was damaged by sheet, gully and channel erosion, the products of which were deposited in the drainage ditches.

This project was approved for planning by the administrator of the soil conservation service on February 27, 1958. A work plan was completed which included nine major structures.

These structures have a total sediment capacity of 573.63

acre-feet, and a total floodwater detention capacity of 396.80

acre-feet.

The total sediment pool surface area of the structures is 70.66 acres, and a total floodwater detention pool surface area of 103.55 acres. Land treatment measures were included to prevent excessive siltation of the major structural works of improvement, and to protect the uplands from erosion.

should reduce damages by 85 percent.

The project was approved for operations by the United States Department of Agriculture on July 10, 1958. The work plan shows the total project cost of $246,279, with the P.L. 566 share being $171,069, and the other than P.L. 566 share being $75,210. This project was completed in February 1963.

McKee Creek (Middle and South Fork)

McKee Creek (Middle and South Fork) Watershed is located in Brown and Pike counties with a drainage area of 56,960 acres (88 square miles). It is a tributary of the Illinois River. The soil and water conservation districts of Brown and Pike counties are the sponsors of the proposed project.

The application for this watershed was approved by the Governor of Illinois in August 1963.

The three major problems in this watershed are: a. Floodwater damages to the agricultural land in the floodplain; damages to the public roads and bridges; b. Sheet and gully erosion in the upland area; c. Inadequate water supply for several small towns in the watershed.

The soil conservation service has field surveys underway for a preliminary investigation report.

Rubicon Creek Watershed

Rubicon Creek Watershed has a drainage area of 7,000 acres

(10.9 square miles) in Greene

Taylor Creek. The following organizations signed the application for assistance: Greene county soil and water conservation district, City of Greenfield, Fillager Memorial hospital, and Greenfield Community School District No. 10.

Flood control, silt control, water supply, and recreation for the Village of Greenfield are the needs of this community.

The application for assistance was submitted in April 1956.

The major objective was to

Village of Greenfield. No action was taken on the request for assistance, as the P.L. 566

Law (at that time) did not include municipal water supply or recreation.

The planning of this watershed has been terminated as there has not been any renewed interest shown by the local sponsors.

Solomon Creek Watershed

consists of 17,600 acres (27.5 square miles) in Macoupin county. This watershed is a tributary of the Macoupin Creek which is a tributary of the Illinois

River. The application is sponsored by the Macoupin county soil and water conservation district. The Governor of Illinois approved this application during November 1963.

The following watershed problems are listed in the application: a. Floodwater damages to bottom land (crop and pasture) and to public roads and bridges; b. Excessive cropping of upland area with inadequate soil and water conservation practices; c. Lack of surface facilities to provide needed recreation for the local people; d. Lack of adequate water supply for domestic and possible small industrial use.

The preliminary investigation report has been completed and accepted by the local sponsors.

The project as now formulated includes recreation and municipal water in addition to flood control. Planning authorization will be requested by the soil conservation service.

Sugar Creek Watershed

Sugar Creek Watershed covers

4,200 acres (6.6 square miles)

in Jersey county. Sugar Creek is a tributary of Macoupin

Creek, which drains into the Illinois River. The application is sponsored by the Jersey county soil and water conservation district and Board of Trustees, Village of Fieldon, Illinois, and endorsed by the Jersey county area redevelopment committee.

The governor approved the application on November 20, 1962.

The project objectives are: Gully stabilization, water supply for the Village of Fieldon, recreational development, and flood control for the bottom

Valley City Watershed

Valley City Watershed is a

Power is made in one main way.

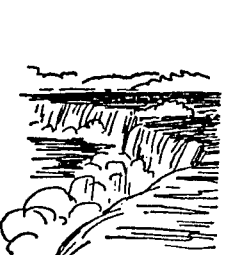

A core moves through the lines of force of an electromagnet and electricity is generated along a wire.

A power generator can be turned with—

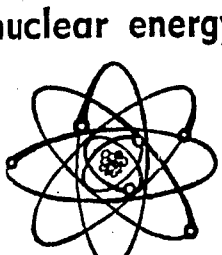

Steam from coal.

Water power.

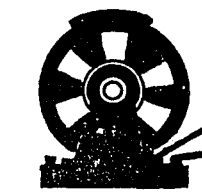

Even our most elite power source, nuclear energy, generates power by creating steam, just as coal does.

Electricity must be created at the moment it is needed for use. There are only comparatively inefficient methods of storing it.

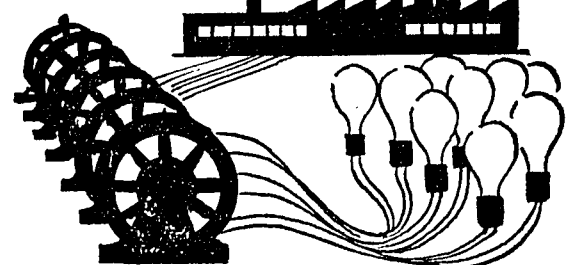

Thus

In light loads, few generators in use.

In heavy load periods, more generators are cut in.

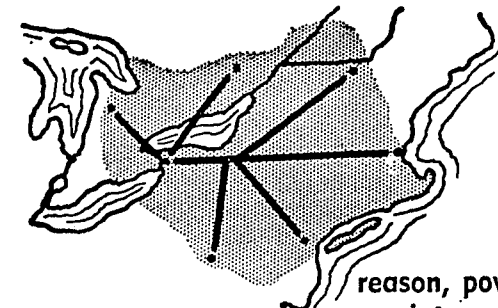

A short circuit is like a water main break.

Power is fed into the ground.

In abnormal events like this, safety equipment automatically cuts out generators before damage occurs. In the Big Blackout, the loss was so great that the whole interstate system was paralyzed.

For this reason, power sources are interconnected in complicated systems and the load is switched from hour to hour and location to location according to needs.

small 5,994 acre (9.4 square miles) watershed in Pike county and drains into the Illinois River. The application was jointly sponsored by the Valley City drainage and levee district and the Pike county soil and water conservation district.

The governor of Illinois approved the application on April 10, 1959, and the administrator of the soil conservation service approved the application for planning in June 1959.

The main problems consist of bottomland flooding and sedimentation damages to the drainage district channels. The study of sediment control structures proved they were not economically justifiable at that time, and planning assistance was terminated March 27, 1961.

Clear Creek Watershed

Clear Creek Watershed covers

26,000 acres (40.6 square miles) of Cass county and drains into Big Indian Creek. This application was sponsored by the Cass county soil and water conservation district and the Clear Creek drainage and levee district. The governor approved the application in August 1961.

The principal watershed problems are flooding of good agricultural bottomland and siltation of the drainage district channels from gully erosion in the

A preliminary report was discussed with the local sponsors in October of 1962, to confirm the results of the report and to obtain further suggestions from the local people. Local interest lagged until 1964 when a meeting was called to revive action on the watershed.

The soil conservation service agreed to prepare a new preliminary investigation report using current criteria. Field surveys are underway.

Hurricane Creek Watershed

Hurricane Creek Watershed

consists of 47,800 acres (75 square miles) in Greene and Scott counties and outlets into the Illinois River. The application was sponsored by the Greene county soil and water conservation district, Hillview and Hartwell drainage and levee districts, and the Village of Hillview.

The application was approved by the governor on September

27, 1961. The problems of the watershed are: flooding of agricultural land; siltation of drainage ditches, resulting from serious upland erosion; and serious flood damages to City of Hillview. The Corps of Engineers has authorization on Hurricane Creek as part of the Illinois River study. Works of improvement planned by the corps are intended to protect the farm land and provide a certain degree of protection to the Village of Hillview.

In December 1964 assistance was suspended until the plans of the Corps of Engineers were known in regard to upstream and urban damages.

Little Cedar Creek Watershed

Little Cedar Creek Watershed

had a drainage area of 4,522 acres (7.1 square miles) in the southeast part of Schuyler county.

Little Cedar Creek is a tributary of Cedar Creek and Lamoine River. The proposed watershed project was sponsored by the Schuyler county soil and water conservation district.

The major problems in the watershed are: a. Floodwater damage to the agricultural land in the floodplain; b. Gully and sheet erosion in the upland area; c. Inadequate water supply for domestic and livestock use.

The sponsor submitted the application for assistance in March 1955. The application was not recommended for approval

"Due to the effectiveness of the present program and the lack of justifiable benefits that could be obtained from additional works of improvement."

McKee Creek (North Fork) Watershed

McKee Creek (North Fork) Watershed is located in Adams,

Brown, and Pike counties with a drainage area of 213,765 acres

(332 square miles). It is a tributary of the Illinois River. The soil and water conservation district of Adams, Brown, and Pike counties are the sponsors of the proposed project.

Second Break-In In Beardstown At Same Place

BEARDSTOWN — For the second time this week the Crestwood Farm Supply quarters on 8th street at the Railroad were broken into sometime Wednesday night.

Police said that admission was gained in the same way used the first time—a glass was broken to enable the burglar to trip a lock.

The first burglary was reported Nov. 5 when $35 was stolen. On the same night the Beardstown Lumber company was broken into and $127.00 stolen.

No report of loot was made by Crestwood on this second "visit."

Beardstown Notes
The A. G. Schultz home, 115 W. Fifth street has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hartung who are coming here from Davenport when Mr. Hartung assumes his executive position with Oscar Mayer and company. The late Al Schultz bought the home from his father in 1918.

Jack Wessel, an employee of Beardstown Mills, has the wheels turning for construction of his new $24,000 home in the Clement Addition on the Chandlerville road. Mr. and Mrs. Wessel and family now reside on the east side having sold their Washington street property several weeks ago. The new home has been staked out and actual construction will begin soon.

Meanwhile swift progress is being made on a number of other new homes here, including a ranch type being constructed on Jackson street in the 1200 block for Walter Milard, local florist.

The Bob MacCinchies will be taking over new duties at Olivet College, Michigan Nov. 15th and will be here the 11th for their new home. MacCinchies will be acting in an administrative capacity at Olivet, and says that his duties will be similar to those he had at the United States Embassy in Paris during his years with the State Department.

ROODHOUSE WMU HEARS DISCUSSION ON INDONESIA

ROODHOUSE—Sue Bradford was leader for the discussion on Indonesia when the WMU of the Emmanuel Baptist church met Nov. 9.

Preceding the program a business session was conducted by Hazel Ford, president. Prayer was offered for family altars and the Japanese people. Reports of various committees were given and roll call was answered with a scripture verse.

The group decided to collect and pack articles for boys in service from the local church who would be overseas at Christmas. The usual plates for shut-ins also will be prepared and sent out.

Participating in the program were Anna Hendrickson, Joyce Benner, Hazel Ford, Lela Ford and Florence Edwards.
Roodhouse Briefs
Mr. and Mrs. Jess Hood of Elkton, S.D., are the parents of a daughter, Debra Ann. This is their third daughter. Mr. and Mrs. Hood will be remembered in the Barrow vicinity as he was a pastor of the church and one of the teachers at the Patterson school.

Mrs. Thomas R. Stanley and daughter, Theresa Regina of Salisbury, Mass., have left for Louisville, Ky., where they will spend some time visiting her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stanley, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Hart of Roodhouse.

Miss Sharon Price and Ronald Hart, brother of the groom, attended the couple.
The bride wore a conventional length wedding dress of white lace with a pillbox headdress. She carried a nosegay of white carnations. Miss Price wore a gold satin dress and carried a nosegay of maroon and gold mums.

Sammye Briscoe, Robert Hart Wed At White Hall

WHITE HALL — Miss Sammye Briscoe and Robert L. Hart were married Oct. 30th at the First Christian church. Rev. Daniel Hall performed the evening ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Ira Briscoe of White Hall and the late Mr. Briscoe. She was given in marriage by her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stanley, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Hart of Roodhouse.

The groom, a 1962 graduate of the Roodhouse High School, is serving with the U.S. Army and stationed at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

Freak Accident Halts Work At Grain Elevator

BEARDSTOWN — A freak accident about 4:30 p.m. Thursday put a complete stop to activities at the Continental Grain Elevator in the midst of its busiest season.

A large tractor and trailer with 950 bushels of corn just unloaded, crashed 18 feet to the ground and wedged between an elevator and the company office after a U bolt on a lift had broken.

No one was injured, but F. A. Lyons, elevator manager, reported it was impossible to say just when the damage could be repaired.

Loaded trucks are driven onto a large platform scale that can be hoisted into the air in order to facilitate unloading. The huge tractor trailer outfit, owned by the Pitt Transport company of Augusta, was on the lift and had just been unloaded when the vital U bolt snapped, plunging the outfit down, twisting the scale platform like a pretzel and doing much damage to the trailer.

The driver had dismounted before the lift was put into operation.

Mr. Lyons said that the outfit weighed 40 tons. He had lifting equipment on hand Friday to start the job of clearing the scale area.

Mike Varley was operating the lifting equipment when the crash occurred.

A large number of trucks which were waiting their turn to unload had to be turned away.

Continental loads grain from its elevators to barges on the river.

FIRE AT BUS DEPOT CAFE

An electric deep fryer was possibly damaged by fire late Friday night at the Trailways Cafe on West State street.

Firemen, called to the scene at 11:41 p.m. said that an electric wire apparently shorted causing the brief, but contained fire.

DRIVER TICKETED AFTER ACCIDENT

A Springfield man was ticketed by city police for failure to stop at a stop sign after an accident at 2:09 p.m. Friday at the intersection of East College and South Clay.

Charles W. Flint of Springfield, headed north on South Clay, collided with a westbound auto driven by Ernest S. Allen of Route 1, Chandlerville.

Flint told police he didn't see the stop sign.

Both cars were towed from the scene.

Morgan County Sheriff Harold E. Wright said the youths told him they were shooting pigeons with a shotgun when the incident occurred.

CARS DAMAGED EAST OF CITY

Two cars sustained damage 2½ miles southeast of Jacksonville on State Route 104 at 11:45 a.m. Friday.

A car driven by Grace Trotter, 411 North Laurel Drive, slowed for a farm tractor on the highway and was struck from the rear by a second vehicle driven by Jerry W. Adams of Litchfield. A passenger, Danny Leonard, also of Litchfield, sustained minor injuries.

Adams was issued a ticket for following too closely by investigating state troopers.

Hospital Notes

Mrs. Edward Leinberger of Chandlerville entered Memorial hospital, Springfield, Tuesday. She is a surgical patient.

Mrs. Annis Grady of Exeter is a surgical patient at Passavant hospital.

Hunting Mishap Injures Boy, 17

A 17-year-old Jacksonville youth was reported in good condition Friday night by a Holy Cross hospital spokesman after doctors extracted shotgun pellets from the boy's arm and abdomen.

Authorities reported that Daniel Lomelino, 17, of route four, was reported to have been accidentally shot by his brother Richard, 15, near their home about three o'clock that afternoon.

Morgan County Sheriff Harold E. Wright said the youths told him they were shooting pigeons with a shotgun when the incident occurred.

Secure Necessary Right-Of-Way In Sewerage Project

BEARDSTOWN — Completion Thursday of all negotiations for right-of-way for the outfall sewer which will be a part of the $500,000 disposal system to be built by the city in connection with an agreement with the new pork production plant for Oscar Mayer clears the way for an early start on the project.

City Attorney Milton McClure said Friday that he had "completed" all right of way negotiations and had the signatures of 21 owners of the parcels of land involved.

It was understood that almost every one of the landowners cooperated completely with the city and that advertising for bids on the job will be done at once.

May Go To Court

Coming to terms with the landowners was much simpler and less expensive than the problem facing the Beardstown Park Board which has not been able to complete negotiations for land involved in the Bears River Airport project.

Attorney McClure also is working in this case and expressed the view Friday that it is very possible a condemnation suit may have to be filed to get the land needed from the owners of one parcel vital to the project.

Miss Huffaker, sponsored by the New Berlin Woman's Club at Allerton Art School, Monticello, for one week the past

Scotland Yard Moves Soon To Its New Headquarters

AP Special Report

By GRANVILLE J. WATTS LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard is moving soon, and some of the world-famous police headquarters won't be the same.

Although the name Scotland Yard is being retained, the police are leaving their strange old building, with its distinctive rounded corners, and moving into a 20-story block of glass and concrete in the nearby Victoria section of London.

Under a new telephone dialing system Scotland Yard will lose its famous number Whitehall 1212. The new number will have only digits, something like 451212.

The name Scotland Yard is traced to a legend that an area of land at Whitehall was known as Scotland because buildings there were set aside to accommodate the kings of Scotland when they visited London.

In 1829 a large house, No. 4 Whitehall Place, was taken over by Sir Robert Peel as headquarters for the police force.

The men were soon speaking of their station by the name of the little street—Scotland Yard—which it faced. The name stuck.

move into the new building about the middle of next year.

The move has been made necessary by the massive expansion of the Metropolitan Police force.

India Now Loud Critic

By CONRAD FINK
NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India, formerly among the United Nations' strongest supporters, is becoming one of its loudest critics.

Indian leaders accuse the United Nations of overstepping its authority, succumbing to big-power politics and meddling in India's internal affairs.

This attitude stems from the conflict with Pakistan over divided Kashmir and Indian fears that the United Nations, goaded by the United States and Britain, will try to force a settlement against India's interests.

Many Indians feel the United Nations failed in its handling of the Kashmir issue, primarily for two reasons:

—It did not condemn Pakistan as an aggressor following the September war, as India demanded; and has not obtained withdrawal from India soil of all armed personnel, including infiltrators from Pakistan into Kashmir.

The U.N. Security Council, Indians say, provides Pakistan with an international propaganda forum on Kashmir, which new Delhi says is part of the Indian union and therefore an internal Indian problem.

Pakistan retorts that India itself took the Kashmir problem to the Security Council in 1947, and now is simply trying to frustrate U.N. peace efforts.

Whatever the truth, angry India now boycotts Security Council discussions of Kashmir, and has unleashed stern talk about the United Nations and its role in maintaining peace.

Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri was almost derisive in one speech.

Asserting India attacked Pakistan in response to Pakistani threats and attacks, he said: "I thought it proper to move toward Lahore in West Pakistan instead of sending a protest note or going to the Security Council."

President Sarvepalli Radhakrishnan has been more emphatic, saying: "If due to pressure politics, the United Nations does not take an honorable and just decision in the Kashmir dispute the fate of the League of Nations is there to warn us."

Indian leaders quickly add they don't want the United Nations to crumble as the league did.

Reither On Beardstown

By VIRGIL REITHER
BEARDSTOWN — The "run" on flags in Beardstown, resulting from the drive by veterans organizations to have a great display on Veterans' Day, made it necessary for local firemen to secure a rush shipment Nov. 10.

Veterans said that so many people bought flags that the entire stock in Beardstown stores was exhausted Nov. 9. Business men and citizens were urged to display the flag on Veterans' Day at their homes and business houses to "show the boys in Vietnam" that Beardstownians are behind them and to indicate support for U.S. policy in the conflict.

Jackie Hageman, who has been operating a billiard hall and card room at 114 State street for the past several months, has decided to quit business. A sign on the door was used for the announcement.

Mrs. Myrtle Yates, proprietor of the Yates restaurant here, returned home Tuesday night after several days at St. Mary's hospital in Quincy where she submitted to ear surgery. She reportedly is getting along and the surgery was pronounced a success. However she will have to "take it easy" for a while due to a "flare up" in hospital.

Applications for the service have been distributed to local teachers who will refer students needing help in any subject to the college service, after parental consent has been given.

The program will be conducted on an individual basis, with the student and tutor meeting at least one hour per week, at a time which is convenient to the student. If necessary, transportation to and from the campus library, site of the tutoring sessions, will be available.

Over 40 MacMurray students have thus far expressed an interest to participate in the program which is hoped to become an annual service to the community.

Miss Cathy McLaughlin, director of the tutorial service, stated that the sessions can fulfill a two-fold purpose. "Through this program, we believe that students of MacMurray can better both the community and themselves in a way in which they are most capable of performing — through academic tutoring."

Additional application forms and/or further information can be obtained by either contacting the student's teacher, or by calling Miss McLaughlin at the college, extension 257.

Free Tutorial Service Planned By Mac Students

The Association for Equal Opportunity, a student organization at MacMurray college, has recently completed plans for a tutorial program open to all junior and senior high school students in Jacksonville. There will be no cost for the service.

Scheduled to begin during the first week in December, the tutoring program is to be conducted under the full sponsorship of local teachers and school administrators, and members of the college faculty who have screened applicants for tutoring positions.

Rowland, Snowden Pace Awesome Show

By BUFORD GREEN

Illinois College's multi-talented offense, led by halfbacks Tom Rowland and Phil Snowden, completely crushed St. Procopius Saturday afternoon, as the winning Blueboys closed out the season at 6-2 with an impressive 45-0 romp.

The flashy halfback duo of Rowland and Snowden put on brilliant offensive shows, with Rowland scoring three times and throwing for a touchdown, and Snowden tossing for six points.

Snowden ground out 154 yards on 20 carries, and Rowland, the leading ball carrier in District 20 NAIA statistics, piled up 131 on only 12 attempts.

As a team the IC offense rolled up some impressive statistics over the outclassed Eagles, and again the steady Blueboy defense was mighty stingy with yards.

The Blueboys ground out 380 yards on the ground in 56 rushing plays, almost seven per try, and added 85 more throwing for well over 400 yards in the game.

IC's defense, led by stellar performances by such linemen as seniors Charley Davis, Jim Cox and Herb Smith, gave up just 52 net yards on the ground.

St. Procopius quarterback Joe McPhie was the only offense weapon the Eagles found effective. McPhie tossed 32 times, and completed 12 for 104 yards, and scrambled for most of the losers' ground yards as well.

The Eagles were able to contain IC the first time the Blueboys got the ball, but there was no stopping the Hilltoppers after that.

After Dick Dickens knocked down a McPhie pass to force a punt, the Blueboys took over on their own 43 as a result of a short 17-yard boot, and marched in to score on 11 plays.

Snowden, Rowland A Go Go. Snowden, who gained 97 yards in the first half alone, got nine, three, 23 and five in four carries, with Rowland going for six, two and the final three.

Rowland's TD carry came around right end after a fumbled snap moved the ball back from the one-yard stripe. The kick for the PAT was nullified by a bad snap, with 19 seconds left in the first period.

After the Eagles made it into IC territory for the only time in the first half, the Blueboys held and took over on their own 40 to set up another score, this drive covering 60 yards in only three plays.

Snowden broke off right tackle for 34 yards to the Eagles' 25, John Leuchentfeld carried for four and Rowland outraced the defenders around left end on a quick pitch for the remaining 22 yards with 11:54 to play in the half. Again the kick failed for the point after.

Bad Snap Sets Up TD. After the two teams traded fumbles at near midfield, the Blueboys got another scoring break when a bad snap from center on fourth put the ball on the St. Procopius seven-yard marker. From there Snowden got four to the three and Jim Malerich, injured most of the season, plunged up the middle for another six points. Bill Bien legged the point after for a 19-0 difference with 3:45 left before halftime.

Bien came back to knock down a McPhie pass near the end of the half, the play coming on fourth down and giving the Blueboys the ball on the visitors' 47.

From there Bucky Sullivan got three, Rowland five and Snowden five to the 34. Roger Spencer carried for six, and two straight penalties, personal foul and a resulting unsportsmanlike conduct, on the Eagles, moved the ball to the seven from where Ivan Houston twisted his way in and Garth Cripe booted the point after for a 26-0 halftime count.

"Shoelless" Six Points. Illinois College drove 75 yards and 80 yards for two more touchdowns in the third 15-minute stanza. The first scoring drive started at the IC 25 and took only seven plays. From the 44 of the Eagles Rowland broke clear around left end and outraced the secondary despite losing a shoe turning the corner.

After Davis, Ed Price and Dickens busted in to throw McPhie for long losses on the next series, the Blueboys started off on another march from their own 20, a drive that took 11 plays.

Snowden, Jerry Sapp and Rowland were the big carriers on the drive, with Snowden connecting with end Butch Bending on a halfback-pass play that covered the final ten yards with 2:13 to play in the third. With coach Joe Brooks letting everyone play most of the second half, the Blueboy offense continued to roll in the fourth quarter as well.

68-Yd. Scoring Pass. After the two clubs traded fumbles again, the Blueboys got the final six points of the season on a beautiful Rowland to John O'Hara pass play that covered 68 yards. Sapp ran the point after for the 45-0 score with 8:54 left in the game.

The Blueboys threatened to score again late in the closing minutes, moving behind Bud Lawrence, Snowden and Bien, but ended up at the 15 when time ran out.

Score by quarters: Illinois College 6 20 12 7-45 St. Procopius 0 0 0 0-0

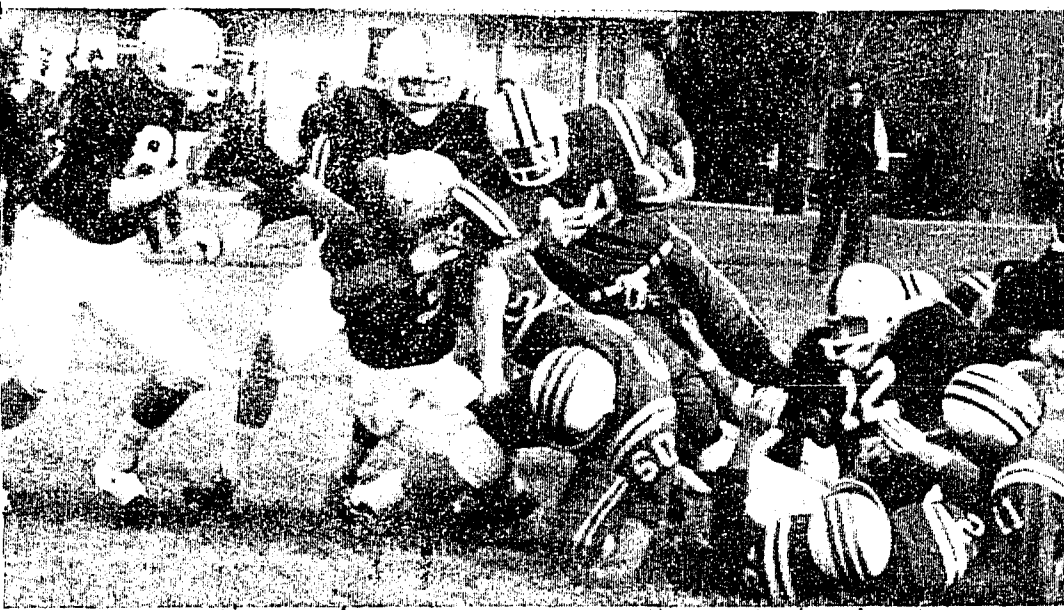

Scoring: 1-Rowland, 3 run, 6-0 1-Rowland, 22 run, 12-0 1-Malerich, 3 run (Bien, run), 19-0

SIDESTEP: Illinois College's stellar halfback Phil Snowden sidesteps a tackler and goes on for more yardage during the Blueboys' 45-0 trouncing of St. Procopius Saturday afternoon. Snowden gained 154 yards in 20 carries during the game.

DETERMINED: Sophomore Tom Rowland drags a tackler with him as he busts over for a three-yard touchdown. Rowland scored three touchdowns and passed 68 yards to John O'Hara for another score, and picked up 131 yards rushing for the winning Illinois College Blueboys Saturday afternoon, as IC closed out a successful 6-2 campaign with a 45-0 victory over St. Procopius.

Arkansas Extends String To 21, 24-3

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Jon Brittenum's passing, running and quarterbacking for Arkansas, the nation's No. 2 team, to a 24-3 victory over South Methodist Saturday to extend college football's longest winning streak to 21 straight games.

It clinched a tie for the Southwest Conference championship for Arkansas. The Razorbacks can take it all when they go after their 10th straight victory for the season against Texas Tech at Fayetteville next Saturday.

Arkansas will have to win over Tech to get the Cotton Bowl host spot. Should Tech win, the two would tie for the championship and Tech would come to the Cotton Bowl by virtue of having beaten the team that tied it for the title.

A crowd of 67,000—largest to see southern Methodist play in the Cotton Bowl in 15 years—watched the Methodists take a 3-0 lead the first time they had the ball, stall on a threatening drive because of a penalty for offensive pass interference, then a swift before the running and passing of Brittenum and a pass defense that picked off three Methodist throws, one setting up a touchdown.

Brittenum scored one touchdown, passed for one and set up three touchdowns and a field goal.

Southern Methodist scored by driving 61 yards on the running of White and Jernigan, and when it stalled on the Arkansas 16, Dennis Partee kicked a 33-yard field goal.

Missouri Roms To 30-0 Breeze, Gain Sugar Bowl

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — Ninth-ranked Missouri rode into the Sugar Bowl on the run-pass talent of quarterback Gary Lane as they crushed Oklahoma 30-0 Saturday for second place in the Big Eight.

The Sugar Bowl bid was automatic in the event of a Missouri victory and the squad quickly voted approval, giving Coach Dan Devine his fourth bowl team in eight years at Missouri and Missouri its ninth bowl trip in school history.

Lane scored three touchdowns and passed for another. The Tigers, now 4-1 in the Big Eight and 6-2-1 for the season, wasted no time moving to a 17-0 halftime lead. It was a Missouri's first victory over Oklahoma at Columbia since 1945.

They beat O.U. at Norman only once in the same period. Charlie Brown, a darting 185-pound halfback, and Carl Reese power-running fullback, were Missouri's other major weapons, along with the blocking of tackles Francis Peay and Butch Allison.

Oklahoma, playing without linebacker Carl McAdams, had no answer. The Sooners made matters worse with two lost fumbles, leading to Missouri touchdowns.

CLANSMEN ACCEPT TOURNAMENT BID

The McMurray college soccer squad has recently accepted a bid to compete in the NAIA district 20 soccer tournament, November 19-20.

The tourney will be held at McMurray.

Eastern Illinois University, who compiled a 7-3 record on the season, has also accepted a bid, with two more berths yet to be filled.

Nebraska Rally Earns 21-17 Win, Get Bowl Spot

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Third-ranked Nebraska rallied from the brink of defeat Saturday to nip Oklahoma State 21-17, then accepted an invitation to play in the Orange Bowl New Year's night.

The Cornhuskers, bidding for their first undefeated season in 50 years, scored with 38 seconds remaining to overcome a 17-14 deficit.

They nailed down their ninth straight victory while clinching at least a tie for their third consecutive Big Eight conference title.

Orange Bowl officials, on hand to sign the Cornhuskers, made no mention of an opponent for Nebraska in the Miami classic, but speculation centered on Alabama, the nation's No. 5 team.

Oklahoma State, winner of but one game this year, seemingly had the Cornhuskers on the ropes when quarterback Glenn Baxter plunged three yards to put the Cowboys ahead 17-14 with 5:19 left.

The Cowboys, striving desperately for an upset before a homecoming crowd of 31,500, threatened to take control again as time ran out. Fullback Walt Garrison raced 18 yards to the Nebraska five as time expired.

Purdue Blasts Gophers, 35-0, On The Ground

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Purdue chewed up Minnesota on the ground and beat the Gophers 35-0 in a bruising Big Ten football game Saturday.

Bob Hurst, Gordon Teter and John Kuzniewski carried the ball for Purdue and got fine blocking from the Boilermaker line. Kuzniewski scored three touchdowns on plunges.

Bob Griese of Purdue, the Big Ten's leading passer, couldn't connect consistently against the Gopher rush and blanket pass defense, although he hit Jim Beirne with a bullet for 15 yards and the Boilermakers' second touchdown.

Minnesota's John Hankinson had better success in the air, but interceptions and fumbles stopped the Gophers when they moved into Purdue territory.

Bob Yunaska had a lot to do with stopping Minnesota, recovering a fumble in the second period to start Purdue on its first touchdown drive and intercepting a Hankinson pass in the fourth period to kill a Gopher drive that had reached the Purdue 28-yard line.

RECAPPING ISD FOOTBALL YEAR

Illinois School for the Deaf football coach Jim Bonds is a well-liked gentleman in this area, respected for his coaching prowess and, from this corner, for his saying what's on his mind. He calls a spade a spade, and doesn't mind saying this has been something of a disappointing grid year at the westside high school.

Bonds, who we have found can tell you what's happening on a football field with the best of them, expected a better year from this year's edition at ISD, his ninth year at the post.

Jim, a native of Chapin and a graduate of Illinois College, isn't running down his players when he says this either. Some of the Tigers didn't come around as expected, but a major cause was a long string of injuries that claimed key performers at one time or another throughout the Tigers' 5-3-1 1965 football campaign.

It was a rare week at least one or two regulars weren't crippled up from the previous week. The only week we can remember was the last of the season.

"Before the season we thought we might lose one or maybe two games," says Bonds. "Some of the kids didn't come around the way we thought they would. That, plus gobs of injuries was probably the reason the year didn't turn out as we expected."

Jim Bonds

"We lost our regular fullback (James Weddle) for the year before the first game. Quarterback Harry Bloomgreen missed two games, lineman Larry Balenger missed three, center guard Gary Shaw two and lineman Jim LeGrande three."

The fact that the overall season didn't turn out just right doesn't mean that Bonds and his charges didn't have their brighter moments. The high point of the year was, of course, the satisfying upset victory over Triopia.

"Other bright spots would have to be the quarterback-ing of Terry Story, a big surprise, and Eric Schubert's performance at defensive, another big surprise," lauds Bonds.

"The lowest spot of the year were the losses to Indiana Deaf and Routt. The kids were real low before the Indiana game. We had just lost our quarterback."

Two of the Tigers' flashiest performers worked out of the backfield. One, senior left half Ray Richardson, was one of the hardest-nosed prep gridders to perform in this area during the year. A breakaway and power runner, Richardson also sparked the Tiger defense, working from a linebacker spot. Several teams would have at least two blockers assigned to Richardson. He ground out 651 yards rushing for the year, on a 6.4 per-carry average.

Bonds says Richardson and fellow halfback Danny Curtis performed about the way he expected. Curtis came around near the end to be a real running threat. The final four games Curtis came into his own, especially in the Triopia game when his running and two key pass interceptions made the difference.

"Fullback Ron Dodd was counted on to be the second string fullback, but came on to do a good job," says Bonds. He hasn't really come up to our expectations, as we felt he would improve considerably after midseason. He has shown good spurts. Harry Bloomgreen did about what we expected of him, good on handoffs but short on his passing. We didn't know about Terry Story, as he hadn't played before, but he was a pleasant surprise.

"Our ends, Ron Nuzzo and Danny George, were about what we expected, but we did expect better blocking from them. Offensively we didn't pass too much. On defense Nuzzo was a real terror all year. George showed some improvement, but not as much as expected."

Statistics through eight games showed Richardson with 651 yards rushing on 101 carries, a 6.4 rate, and Curtis with 471 yards on 80 tries, a 5.8 average. Joyner gained 301 yards in 13 carries. Richardson was also the unassisted tackle leader with 83, with Nuzzo second with 74.

"Larry Marousek and Walter Eymann at tackles played pretty good, especially on offense. We were a little disappointed with their defense."

"Robert Mow looked real good on offense at guard at times, poor others. He wasn't consistent either way. He looked real good in the Triopia game. We had four others playing at the other guard."

"Wally Harmish came on to take over the center spot as a sophomore. We expected him to develop, but not to the point of taking over as a regular. He settled the problem of the other guard near the end of the year, as we were able to move Gary Shaw to guard where he did a good job."

Schubert and LeGrande played strictly defense, and sophomore Jesse Joyner played mostly defense. Schubert and LeGrande played some good defense, although LeGrande was hurt off and on all year.

"If we can find a couple of tackles next year we may be o.k. We're losing a tackle, an end and a guard for sure, as well as our two halfbacks."

Northern Blasts WIU, 40-13, For Perfect Season

DE KALB, Ill. (AP) — Fullback Leigh Gilbert ran for four touchdowns and quarterback Ron Christian threw for two more Saturday as Northern Illinois crushed Western Illinois 40-13 with a second-half surge that carried them to a perfect season and the Intercollegiate Athletic Association championship.

Northern ripped off two touchdowns in each of the final two quarters after leading at halftime by a slim 14-13 margin. Gilbert, a 6-5, 235 pound junior, scored on runs of 32, 5, 3 and 2 yards. He gained a total of 74 yards in 14 carries.

Christian, the nation's total offense leader going into the game, completed 9 of 17 passes for 152 yards and gained another 34 yards on 7 carries. His first score passing was a 45-yarder to end Bob Stark in the opening period. He connected in the third quarter with an 18-yard toss to halfback Army Vesley.

Christian ended the season with 173 completions in 323 attempts for 2,101 yards through the air and 23 touchdowns. Christian also finished with 2,307 total yards for the year.

Western scored in the first half on a 4 yard plunge by Roger Miller and a 4-yard run by Jim Johnson.

Northern finished its regular season with a 9-0 mark and a 4-0 conference record. They also had a 10-0 perfect season in 1963.

The loss left Western with a 4-5 overall mark and a 2-2 conference record.

Bluejays Gain Tie For PMSC With Win

Porta turned a blocked punt and two interceptions into touchdowns and used that margin to roll over Routt 32-18, in a PMSC conference tilt at the JHS athletic field Saturday night. The victory boosted Porta into a tie with Triopia in the final PMSC standings.

Halfback Greg McNeil scored three times for the winners, twice on short runs and once on a 65-yard return of an intercepted pass, to lead the winning Bluejay offensive.

Porta ran up a 20-0 lead midway in the second quarter, but Routt came back into contention halfway through the third quarter, before McNeil's interception broke the game open.

The victory ended Porta's PMSC slate at 5-1, and gave them an overall mark of 5-4. Routt finished its grid season with a 4-3 record, 2-2 in the conference standings.

The winners' sticky defense held Routt's defense at bay most of the game, with two of the scores coming on long strikes, one a 70-yard kickoff return by Mike Fitzpatrick after the outcome was settled.

The Rockets managed only 69 net rushing yards, and added 68 more passing, but quarterback Tom Murgatroyd had three interceptions.

Porta got the first break in the game when halfback Wayne Jones returned a Rocket punt 35 yards back to the Routt 20 early in the opening quarter.

From there Jones got 14 more to the seven, McNeil added four and then carried the remaining three yards and the initial score of the game. The pass for the PAT was dropped in the end zone with 6:22 left in the initial frame.

Porta Blocks Punt. Porta blocked a Routt punt on the next series, with John Grosbell downing the ball on the Rocket ten. McNeil swept around right end on the next play and another TD. Jones ran the PAT for a 13-0 difference.

Routt managed to get inside Porta territory for the first time when John Levins blocked a punt at the Bluejay 42, but Porta's George Davis picked off a Murgatroyd pass at his own 40 and made it back to the Rocket 45 to end the threat.

From the Routt 45 the Bluejays marched in to score again in seven plays. Jones and McNeil did most of the damage, tearing off big yardage to the 20. From there Davis passed to end David Gum who in turn lateraled back to fullback Willie White at the ten and White carried the rest of the way on his own. Jones ran the extra point for a 20-0 lead and only 48 seconds to play in the half.

Routt's Dave Geers returned the ensuing kickoff 46 yards to the Porta 47 to set up the first Routt score. From the 41 Murgatroyd connected with Fitzpatrick at the three with one second left, and fullback Paul Lambert lunged over on the last play of the first half and a 20-6 intermission count.

Rockets Came Back. Routt's Mike Sheehan recovered a pair of Porta fumbles in the third round, the second setting up another Rocket score. Sheehan recovered at the five, and Geers busted across three plays later, from the two. The run for the point after fell short, leaving it 20-12 with 4:31 remaining in the third.

Routt got another big break on the following kickoff, as a confused Porta player let it roll and the man who kicked off, Geers, fell on it at the Porta 35.

Four plays later McNeil off a flat pass at the 35 and had no one in front of him and six more Porta points.

Routt got a drive moving on the next series, with Murgatroyd passing to Sheehan twice for 15 yards, but two straight penalties moved the ball back to the Rocket 22. A pass interference call on Porta gave the Rockets a first down at their own 40, but Jones again killed the march with an interception at the Routt 47.

Porta marched from there to the Routt 18 before Bill Imboden intercepted at the three to stop the drive.

Grabowski Sparks Easy Illinois Win

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Illinois, taking advantage of a fumbling, bumbling Wisconsin offense, scored 23 points in the third period and rolled to a 51-0 Big Ten football victory Saturday over a Badger team that didn't do anything right.

The defeat was the worst administered to the Badgers since 1916 when Minnesota crushed them 54-0.

Jim Grabowski and Sam Price led the touchdown parade with two apiece to pin the third consecutive conference drubbing on the Badgers, who conceivably could have led at halftime by two touchdowns.

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Illinois fullback Jim Grabowski tied one Big Ten football record and snapped another Saturday in leading the Illini to a 51-0 victory over Wisconsin.

Grabowski carried the ball 38 times, tying a mark set in 1943 by Ernie Parks of Ohio State. Grabowski, who gained 196 yards against the Badgers, went over the 1,000 mark in yardage for the season, becoming the first Big Ten player ever to gain more than 1,000 yards twice in his career. Grabowski ran for 1,004 yards last year and with one conference game remaining already has 1,071 yards for the season.

Instead, Wisconsin trailed 14-0 after blowing three scoring opportunities and handing the Illini another.

Grabowski scored the first touchdown from a yard out late in the first period to cap a 31-yard drive that began when sophomore John Boyajian threw a pitchout far over the head of fullback Tom Jankowski and Al Waters recovered for the Illini.

Grabowski, who gained 196 yards in 38 carries, added the second touchdown, bolting 51 yards through the porous Badger middle in the second period to give the Illini a 14-0 halftime lead.

The dam burst in the third period after Fred Custardo kicked a 31-yard field goal to cap a legitimate drive. The fumble and two interceptions set up touchdowns by John Wright on a 37-yard pass from Custardo and by Price on runs of 11 and 1 yards.

Another fumble produced a 1-yard touchdown run by Ron Bess in the final period. Dan Humay raced 32 yards to close out the scoring a few minutes later.

Wisconsin, loser 50-14 to Michigan and 45-7 to Purdue in its last two starts, threatened to take the lead in the first period when the Badgers drove to the Illinois 25 after a 19-yard Boyajian to Dennis Lager pass. But Dick Schumits fumbled and Gary Eickman recovered for the Illini at the 18.

Wildcats Knock Off Michigan On Big Ten 34-22

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Bob McKelvey, slashing 230-pound fullback, led underdog Northwestern to a 34-22 come-from-behind victory over Michigan in a wide-open Big Ten football game Saturday.

McKelvey, who scored two touchdowns on short smashes, constantly shredded Michigan's defenses as he carried 35 times for 137 yards in the battle of conference also rans.

Northwestern, a 13-point underdog, rallied from 7-0 and 10-7 deficits in the first half and then clinched things with a 13-point third quarter for a 27-16 lead.

Northwestern's first touchdown to tie it 7-7 came on quarterback Dennis Boothe's short plunge after a blocked Michigan punt gave the Wildcats possession on the Wolverine one-yard line.

That seemed to rattle Michigan, fresh from impressive victories over Wisconsin and Illinois, although the Wolverines managed to move ahead, 10-7, for the last time on Rick Sygar's 21-yard field goal midway in the second quarter.

But 28 seconds before halftime, Northwestern moved ahead for keeps at 14-10 on Dick Smith's spectacular diving catch of Boothe's 45-yard pass in the end zone.

Northwestern evened its Big Ten mark at 3-3 and the loss left dethroned Michigan with a 2-4 record.

Sloan Smashes Namath Records In 35-14 Romp

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Passing artist Steve Sloan smashed two Joe Namath passing records Saturday and led Alabama to 35-14 football victory over South Carolina.

The Crimson Tide senior threw two touchdown passes and set up two others.

Sloan also scored Alabama's first touchdown on a two-yard plunge. During the initial drive he set a school season completion record when he hit end Ray Perkins with a nine-yard pass. It was Sloan's 77th completion and broke the record of 76 set by Namath in 1962.

In the fourth quarter, Sloan hurled a 39-yard scoring pass to halfback Dennis Homan and brought his season passing total to 1,227 yards, another school record.

South Carolina dominated play in the first half after Alabama drove to its first touchdown. But the Gamecocks were not able to find the scoring range until the third quarter after Alabama had scored another touchdown.

With about four minutes left Alabama marched for its final touchdown. Kenny Stabler capped the drive with a three-yard slant through tackle for the score.

Clay, Patterson In Final Week Of Preparation

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay and ex-champion Floyd Patterson swing into the final week of preparation Sunday for their title 15-round Nov. 22, a match that as yet has not broken into the usual Clay-inspired furor.

Clay, as he insists, Muhammad Ali, has refrained from his familiar bombastics, but has declared he would knock Patterson out "after I punish him seven or eight rounds."

Patterson has been even quieter than usual and has even taken his training program into seclusion. In fact, he has not drilled in public since last Sunday when a sparring partner, heavyweight Mel Turnbow of Cincinnati, twice floored him with rights to the head.

46 JHS Frosh Earn Numerals

The JHS freshman team this season came on strong, winning seven straight after losing to Canton in the first game of the year.

During the year the young Crimsons scored 154 points, to 45 by their opponents. Also during the season the freshmen introduced the "fifth quarter" which allowed all the players who didn't see much action in the regular game to play in an organized game.

Dan Moy, Rich Jones and Gary Spangenberg were the frosh coaches, and Richard and Robert Evans the managers.

Bradley 25, W-Milwaukee 13
MILWAUKEE (AP) — Bob Carress steered Bradley on a 75-yard fourth-quarter scoring drive to overcome stubborn Wisconsin-Milwaukee for a 25-13 football victory Saturday.

Carress pitched the final 11 yards to Jim Terrey to wipe out a 13-12 deficit. He later added a 2-yard scoring toss to Hal Montville on the final play of the game after the Panthers had lost the ball on downs deep in their own territory.

The Bradley quarterback, who already holds practically all of his school's offensive records, completed 24 of 43 passes for 246 yards and three touchdowns. Montville caught the first scoring throw for 18 yards in the first half.

Bradley's victory was its fourth in nine games with one left. Wisconsin-Milwaukee finished its fall campaign at 2-6.

Irish Break Loose In 4th For 17-0 Edge

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Frustrated by fumbles for three quarters, fourth-ranked Notre Dame broke loose after Ken Eddy's 38-yard field goal with two scoring runs by Nick Eddy to defeat North Carolina 17-0 Saturday.

After driving to the North Carolina four in the first quarter and to the five in the second without success Notre Dame finally cranked up a payoff drive in the fading minutes of the third. The Irish drilled 64 yards but had to settle for Eddy's field goal at 1:41 of the fourth.

From then on, the flood gates were open.

Halfback Eddy broke loose near the sidelines and streaked 66 yards for the first touchdown with 7:35 remaining.

In the final minutes, Danny Talbot's pass was stolen by Mike McGill on the North Carolina 41. It took the Irish only seven plays to score, with Eddy crashing the final three.

Ivan added both extra points. It was the first time in 26 games that North Carolina had been shut out.

Until this breakthrough, Eddy, Zloch, Larry Conjar and Robert Bleier ran everywhere on the field but across the goal line as the Irish dominated play.

Midway in the first quarter, the Irish smashed 55 yards to the four as Zloch hit Conjar for 23 yards and Eddy and Conjar each ran for nine. Then Zloch fumbled and Jay Malobich recovered for the Tar Heels.

Later, Eddy's bobble was captured by Henry Sadler on the North Carolina 28 and the Tar Heels marched 48 yards to the 24. This threat was ended by Tom Lammpan's fumble.

pounced on by John Horney.

The Irish then drove 69 yards, mainly on the running of Eddy and Bleier, but the Tar Heels stopped it on the five.

Notre Dame fumbled the ball away again in the third. Eddy yielded it after being jarred by Bo Wood, and Joe Fratalone recovered on the Irish 47. From there, Talbot led a push to the 25. He tried a field goal from the 33 but it was wide.

OSU Assures Iowa Of Bottom In 38-0 Verdict

COLUMBUS, Ohio. (AP) — Ohio State overwhelmed Iowa with an avalanche of touchdowns Saturday in a 38-0 football romp that locked the Hawkeyes in the Big Ten cellar.

The surging Buckeyes, cutting loose with their best offensive show since early in 1962, handed the bewildered Hawks their 12th straight league setback.

A Dad's Day crowd of 84,116 watched the Bucks chalk up their impressive victory under sunny skies with the temperature near 50. It was the worst defeat inflicted by the Bucks on an Iowa team since 1950 when Ohio rolled up an 83-21 count.

Tom Barrington and Will Sander led the Ohio attack with two touchdowns each, but it was a savage Buckeye defense that turned the game into a rout.

The fierce Ohio defenders forced the inept Iowans into numerous mistakes and Ohio was quick to capitalize, converting two fumbles and two pass interceptions into four touchdowns.

It was the 18th time since 1900 that Iowa had failed to win a league contest, and the third time in the last four games that the Hawks failed to score.

Ole Miss Thumps Tennessee 13-14

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Tennessee lost its lucky charm Saturday and Mississippi knocked the Vols from the unbeaten ranks, 14-13, behind rookie quarterback Joe Graves.

On his first play, Tennessee quarterback Charles Fulton gained an unlikely 13 yards and hobbled from the field with a bruised foot.

After that, Tennessee played well but Ole Miss just had better stuff, chiefly from discovering that Graves had the spark the Rebels lacked all season.

Graves piled up big yardage running and throwing and had the big play that finally broke the game open. It was eight-yard gainer to the one-foot marker when the Rebels faced a fourth-and-one situation in the last quarter.

On the next play tailback Mike Dennis scored and Jimmy Keyes' point after put Tennessee behind for the first time this season.

Ortiz Takes Crown Back On Decision

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — Carlos Ortiz won back his world lightweight boxing crown Saturday night, pounding out a unanimous decision with his powerful left hand over Ismael Laguna of Panama in 15 rounds.

Knowing he was behind on points, Lagu tried to take the fight to Ortiz in the final rounds and nearly was floored in the 12th and 13th.

Ortiz had lost his crown to Laguna in Panama on April 10. He had blamed poor conditioning for the defeat. But Saturday night, fighting in his native Puerto Rico, he never tired.

Laguena weighed 133, two pounds less than the 29-year-old Ortiz.

Laguena, an excellent boxer, tried to tire Ortiz with constant movement and a damaging left jab. But almost every time he moved in, Ortiz would meet him with a left hook and often followed with a damaging right.

There were no knockdowns and no cuts.

Judge Enrique Boyd of Panama scored it 145-143. Judge Jose Soto had it 150-138. Referee Rocky Marciano made it 148-143, all for Ortiz under the 10 point must system. The AP's card was 148-140 also for Ortiz.

New Look Among Big College's Coaching Ranks

NEW YORK (AP) — There will be a new look to the college basketball season that opens in little more than two weeks on Dec. 1. Nearly 50 coaching changes have been made since UCLA won the national championship by beating Michigan last March.

Still on the job will be such veterans as Johnny Wooden of UCLA, Adolph Rupp of Kentucky and Hank Iba of Oklahoma State, but missing will be the equally famous Joe Lapchick of St. John's, N.Y., Bones McKinney of Wake Forest, Branch McCracken of Indiana, Ed Jucker of Cincinnati, Chuck Orsborn of Bradley, Fordy Anderson of Michigan State and Taps Gallagher of Niagara.

Lou Carnesecca has replaced Lapchick at St. John's, Jack Murdock has stepped into McKinney's shoes, Lou Watson succeeded McCracken, Tay Baker took Jucker's place. Joe Stowell succeeded Orsborn, John Benington switched from St. Louis to replace Anderson and Jim Maloney replaced Gallagher.

Joe Brehmer is the new St. Louis coach, succeeding Benington. In two other major changes George King resigned as West Virginia coach to succeed Ray Eddy at Purdue and Raymond C. Bucky Waters, an assistant coach at Duke, was named to succeed King as head coach of the Mountaineers.

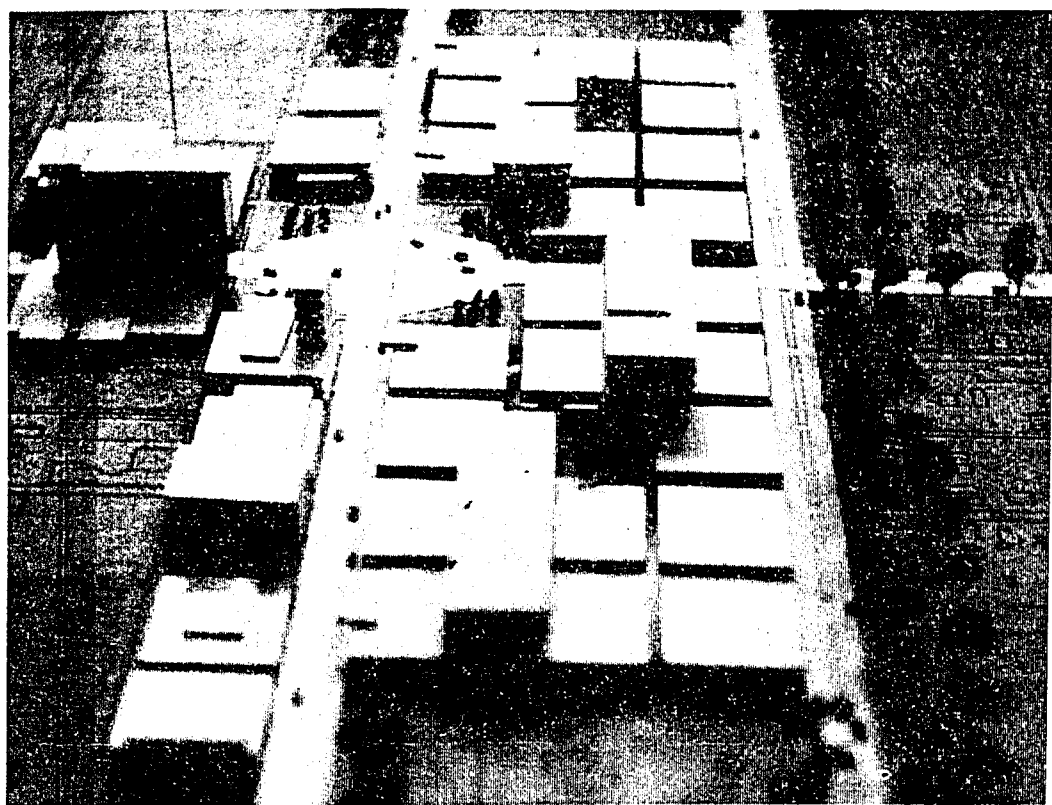

Bob Knight moved up to head coach at Army when Taylor Locke resigned to join the athletic staff at Miami of Ohio, where he will serve this season as coach of the frosh.

NO DRAFT DATE CHANGE
NEW YORK, (AP) — The National Football League announced Saturday that its annual college draft would be held Nov. 27, as originally planned.

The announcement came from Pete Rozelle, NFL commissioner.

The American Football League moved its draft up a week to Nov. 20, drawing criticism from college heads who said the move was a break in the agreement between the pros and the colleges.

The Year Is 2,000 As Students Design A New Jacksonville

Six architectural graduate students of the University of Illinois Friday unveiled their thoughts, and scale models of how the City of Jacksonville should appear in the year 2000.

Meeting with five civic, governmental, and business-men of the city, the students expressed their versions of how the city should expand in areas of industrial, residential and commercial growth.

Following the presentation in the university building, their projects were evaluated by the Jacksonville group for those ideas which would best fit the city as they know it.

The $2,000 study is a project of the Jacksonville Lions Club, and is being directed by Professor Richard Williams of the University of Illinois.

Thoughts suggested included residential expansion to the northeast along a new lake two miles from the city limits, new homes to the southwest, light commercial growth along the GM & O railroad tracks east and north and building the central business district into a compact unit.

1924 Plan Flop
One student, Phil Hodge of Muncie, Indiana, and Willard Cody brought forth a plan for Jacksonville, designed in 1924. Both Cody and Hodge noted that none of the recommendations had been followed to date.

The six projects, a few of which combined similar thoughts on traffic and downtown expansion, will now be reevaluated.

Following the suggestions of Donald Fiedler, representing the Jacksonville Associated Merchants; Lawrence Crawford, member of Plan Commission; Mayor Byron Holkenbrink; Willard Cody, past president of the Chamber of Commerce and Don Adkins, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce the class will now try to develop a composite project or model of the city incorporating the group's likes and dislikes.

P. Thomas Davis, representing General Planning and Research Consultants of St. Louis, said that residents of Jacksonville should realize that no one plan would be entirely adopted, or be put into effect by the year 2000.

Davis is a member of the firm hired by the city to conduct a survey on the city's potential for urban renewal.

Parts May Be Come One
Davis said, "Instead, maybe parts of the six projects would be taken into consideration and eventually developed into the plans for the total city of 2000."

The "design potential study" for Jacksonville is projected for the year 2000 when the students, using their own figures and the Kincaid report, expect a population of 50,000.

Goals announced in the study are to "revitalize and reestablish prominence of downtown core area, and improve the land use and land values" through the urban renewal projects.

It is also desired to "develop the traffic system for easy flow of public, private and service vehicles," as well as pedestrian traffic.

Included in these plans are efforts for additional attractive housing, improved recreational facilities and "define and emphasize the entrances to the city and to the core area."

Students participating in the project are John Kaip, Yugoslavian born, Chicago resident; Takaaki Ishii of Tokyo, Japan; Derwood Schroeder of Kan-kake; Vern Budge of Malad, Idaho; Dave Davis of Tulsa and Phil Hodge of Muncie, Ind.

Professor Williams said that he expected the final model would be completed about December 15 at which time it would be presented to the Lions Club and the city for consideration.

CONCENTRATED DOWNTOWN—A projected model of what Jacksonville might look like in the year 2000 was imagined and constructed by Takaaki Ishii of Tokyo, Japan, a graduate architect student of the University of Illinois. Takaaki proposes to raise the pedestrian walks above the street level in order to allow traffic to flow unobstructed to underground (or what is now first floor) parking in the buildings and shops around the square. He also indicated moving the square, and placing it south of the proposed city hall site.

A TANGLED MESS could best describe the scene of this one-car accident two miles east of Woodson on the Franklin blacktop late Saturday night. The car was headed east on the blacktop road and failed to make a curve, crashing into REA powerlines. Harold Rex (Sam) Austiff, 21, of 13 Elko Apartments, Jacksonville, was the victim and lone occupant of the auto. Austiff could not be removed from the auto until a line crew from the REA arrived on the scene and cut the power supply. Austiff was dead on arrival at Holy Cross hospital.

Harold R. Austiff Killed In Accident East Of Woodson

Harold Rex (Sam) Austiff, 21, of 13 Elko Apartments, Jacksonville, was dead on arrival at Holy Cross hospital about 10 p.m. Saturday following a one-car accident two miles east of Woodson on the Franklin blacktop road.

Austiff was headed east at the time of the accident and failed to negotiate a curve. His car careened off the road and crashed into a pair of REA utility poles.

Austiff could not be removed from the auto until an REA emergency crew arrived to cut the power supply on the wires in which the auto was entangled.

Coroner John B. Martin said Austiff died of injuries sustained in the impact with the utility poles. Martin said an inquest would be held at a later date.

The accident happened shortly before 9 o'clock Saturday evening. State police and sheriff's deputies investigated at the accident scene and kept a large crowd of onlookers clear of the live electrical wires.

Harold Rex Austiff was born January 11, 1944. He is survived by his wife, Alice, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Austiff of Route 2, Franklin, and a brother, Norman of Chapin.

The body was removed to the Neece Funeral Home at Waverly. Further arrangements and obituary will be announced later.

WINCHESTER — Miss Patricia Sue Carlton and Robert Edward Frost were united in marriage Sunday afternoon, October twenty-fourth. The double ring ceremony was performed at the First Christian church where arrangements of white daisies and greenery banked the candlelight altar.

The Reverend C. Frank Jansen of Morrisonville, assisted by the Reverend Marvin Cheney of Winchester, officiated. Mrs. Melvin Smith of Jacksonville was at the organ and Mrs. Hays Wiltshire sang.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Carlton, Winchester route one. The groom is the son of Mrs. C. L. W. Frost of Winchester and the late Mr. Frost.

Mrs. Robert Johnson of Springfield was matron of honor and Miss Janet Frost, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid.

John Havens of Godfrey was best man and Gary Leib served as groomsmen. Ushers were Henry Likes, Jr., Bluffs; Ralph Vortman, Bluffs and James Hodge of Jacksonville, cousin of the bride.

The bride wore a formal wedding gown of taffeta and Alencon lace fashioned on Empire lines with a detachable Chapel train. A matching pillbox headpiece, studded with sequins and pearls, held her veil of illusion secure. She carried yellow throat orchids, valley lilies and ivy with her white Bible.

The bride's attendants were gownned alike in floor length gowns of gold and maize Venice lace and crepe. Their headpieces were crepe bows with multi-veils. Each carried a bouquet of white spidermums and rust colored button mums with ivy.

The mother of the bride wore a two piece salmon colored crepe suit with dark brown accessories. The mother of the groom wore a turquoise suit with navy accessories. Both wore corsages of gardenias.

At the reception held in the church parlors the following assisted: Narleen and Janell Hodge, Jacksonville, cousins of the bride; Mrs. John Havens, Godfrey; Miss Bonnie Seely, Hillview and Mrs. Alvin Smith, Jr., Miss Joyce Ryan, Miss Linda Savage and Miss Ann Coults, all of Winchester.

Since returning from a wedding trip which took them to Los Angeles, California and Fort Collins, Colorado, the newlyweds are residing at 307 East Jefferson street in Winchester.

Both young people graduated from Winchester High School. The bride is a graduate of Passavant Hospital School of Nursing and is a registered nurse in the office of Dr. A. G. Schultz in Jacksonville. The groom attended Ottawa University in Ottawa, Kansas and is presently engaged in farming.

Jacksonville's Ladies Education Society Is Adopted By Federation

Much speculation followed the publication in early October in the Jacksonville Courier and the Jacksonville Journal of an article crediting Jacksonville with having in existence the oldest woman's club in the United States.

The material was released by the General Federation of Women's Clubs, with headquarters in Washington, D.C. The newspaper article coincided with the October issue of the General Federation Clubwomen, which featured stories on the women's clubs organized before 1870 under the heading, Brave Steps into a New World.

The name of the local club holding the signal distinction is the Ladies Education Society and it is still in existence although there is little or no publicity regarding its meetings.

The Ladies Education Society was made an "honorary member" of the G.F.W.C. many years ago. The society was organized in 1838 by wives of the original faculty at Illinois College. This group wished to educate women on the new frontier in the mid-west and provide opportunity to young women seeking a higher education. Annually the Society helps finance an education for, from four to five girls.

Over the years the Society has aided hundreds of girls to receive higher education.

The Ladies Education Society is small, holding its membership to twelve. The group only meets when it has business to transact and on Nov. 4th of this year held its 132nd annual meeting at the home of the secretary, Mrs. Vorce Bassett. At that time there was an

Michalson Tells CWJ Members Of Summer In Iran

Mike Michalson, senior at Jacksonville High School and son of Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Michalson, charmed his audience with his enthusiastic report of his trip last summer to the country of Iran as an exchange student, when he spoke Nov. 10th to members of the CWF of Central Christian church.

The youth used slides to illustrate the many points of interest in the foreign country and showed the home he lived in and the community in which he mingled with the many classes of people. The climate in Iran was also an interesting fact explained by Michalson. The meeting in Fellowship Hall was conducted by the president, Mrs. Hershel Hickey. Mrs. Katherine Ray provided piano selections as members and guests assembled. Mrs. Audra Livengood offered devotions and Give Thanks was sung by Mrs. Frances Plouer and Mrs. Don Wood.

The speaker was introduced by the program chairman, Mrs. Russell Vernor. During the business session, following the program reports were heard from service chairman. The membership approved purchase of a public address system for Fellowship Hall, after recommendation by the CWF executive committee. Following the closing hymn a refreshment were served by members of the Rapp-Garlich Group.

Flaw In Power System

The magnitude of the East Coast power failure is indicated by the fact that almost one-sixth of all Americans live in the area directly affected. No blackout of this extent had ever occurred before.

This is what makes the episode different from power failures in the past, even those which have blacked out whole metropolitan areas. In this case the darkness extended over several states as power failed in one area and thus created an overload that spread the blackout in a swift progression.

Although the possibility of sabotage does exist, and will figure in the investigation being directed by the Federal Power Commission, it appears most likely that this was not a factor. Unless clear evidence of sabotage is found, the greater interest will focus on how a power failure on such an enormous scale could come about in a system supposedly foolproof against disasters of this kind.

This is obviously related to the question of sabotage. For if the surge of demand can thus knock out one power station after another, a determined saboteur might create havoc if he knew how and where to start the falling-domino effect. It is to be hoped that the FPC will be able to pinpoint the trouble and recommend changes to make any recurrence of such a blackout impossible.

True Teaching

What is happening in our colleges today resembles Times Square on New Year's Eve—lots of noise, an air of festiveness and expectation, a sense of elation over being in such large company, and a general unwillingness to question the purpose of it all.

The description is offered in the latest annual report of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation, an organization which seeks to recruit young people for the teaching profession and to dramatize the need for competent, well-trained college teachers.

Looking about the American educational scene, the foundation finds much which appears to be cause for celebration.

In 1964-65, money spent for education rose to an estimated $39 billion. Of this, the federal government contributed $3.8 billion, an increase of 60 per cent over the previous year.

Nearly 28 per cent of the nation's population—almost 54.2 million—are attending schools; five million of them are in colleges, with 415,000 college teachers ministering to them.

"The American dream of equal educational opportunity for everybody is nearer its fulfillment than ever before," notes the report. It adds, however, "that posterity will judge teachers not by the numbers of people they train to perform tasks, but by the quality of spirit they generate in their students."

In this light, the foundation discerns a number of flaws in an otherwise glowing picture:

- Today's high school student often has been under pressure to perform, not from love of learning but simply to get himself into college, which the public now accepts as an absolute good.
 - High selectivity has often led to overemphasis on impersonal factors, such as test scores and grades.
 - Because so much administrative energy in colleges is absorbed in physical expansion, there is too little concern in high places over bad teaching.
 - Graduate education in some instances continues to be pedantic, overspecialized and impersonal and thus may produce pedantic, overspecialized and impersonal young teachers.
 - Too many college teachers lead lives of self-imposed isolation from the world outside their ivied halls.
- Counterbalancing these are hopeful signs, such as colleges' growing awareness of the importance of teachers, a massive swing in popular interest toward the arts, expansion of scholarships and fellowships, the increasing interest of professors in the causes that move their students.
- In a time preoccupied with quantity, the foundation reminds that "true teaching occurs when one person's mind is stimulated by another person's mind and when a human heart is touched by another human heart."
- It is confident that enough committed teachers will be found in the years ahead that this ideal will not become a drop-out from the American scheme of education.

O'Brien's Sense of Humor Hides Extent of Know-How

By WASHINGTON STAFF
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON (NEA)—Lawrence O'Brien, former Presidential aide for congressional liaison and the man who is now Postmaster General, jokingly likes to knock down the claim that he knows little of the substance of the measures he helped jam through Congress.

Says O'Brien: "Why, just the other day the President asked me what I thought of the farm bill. 'I said: 'Mr. President, if we owe it, let's pay it.'"

Vice President Hubert Humphrey is quite accustomed to having himself introduced on the platform as "Vice President Humphreys." Recently, however, he was presented to a New York Democratic audience in a way that surely must have startled him.

The speaker, seeking minor office in the Nov. 2 New York City elections, was so overjoyed at finding the vice president in his midst that he hailed him cheerfully as "Herbie Humphrey."

William F. Buckley, Conservative party nominee for New York City mayor, turned up late at a network television studio for a joint debate with his major party rivals.

As he slipped into an already crowded room, he grinned and asked: "Got room for one more underdog?"

In plain gold lettering, the title reads: "How to Run a Successful Mayoralty Campaign."

On the inside of the cover there is this further legend: "Dedicated to the principle that one must quench one's thirst for knowledge."

The book has no pages. Where they should be is a deep cavity within which rests one full bottle of hard spirits and two glasses.

Federal workers in a small agency installed in a new Washington building were writing from blasts of hot air pouring into many offices despite unseasonably warm weather outside.

Finally an official—one of many on loan from other key government quarters—called the building manager to beg for relief.

A secretary answered, "And who do you represent?" she asked.

Back she came with: "What company?"

This time his response was soft, but firm: "Of the United States."

Defense Secretary Robert McNamara is reputed to be a demanding taskmaster toward Pentagon employees. Oft-heard stories to this effect took on new weight one recent Friday evening when a Pentagon officer glanced at the clock, noted it was 6:30 p.m., shoved his chair back and announced proudly: "Good show! Only two more working days until Monday!"

By JAMES BACON
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Is George Murphy the opening wedge of a new political trend? Could be.

Hardly had Shirley Temple's old dancing partner made it all the way to the U.S. Senate in his first pitch to the voters when candidates from the world of entertainment started popping up all over.

Actor Ronald Reagan is in the running for governor of California.

Actor Gary Merrill has his eye on the Maine State House. Television's Steve Allen wanted to be a U.S. representative but was stymied, at least temporarily, by legal technicalities.

Actor Eddie Albert is urged by Democratic bigwigs to present himself for office in Los Angeles.

Nobody knows how many other film and television personalities may be getting the itch to run for something. This marks a decided change.

Until recently, entertainers operated on the political fringes. They supported the candidates of their choice with campaign fund contributions, or paid for testimonial advertisements, or donated their talent to party conventions and campaign rallies.

Murphy opened their eyes. He won the Republican nomination for senator from California in 1964 and then defeated the Democratic incumbent, Pierre Salinger, in a state where the Democrats have a 3-2 edge in voter registration.

Television has revolutionized politics. A good television image is a prime asset for candidates.

Pierre Salinger went on television with the debonair Murphy. Salinger, plump and ill at ease, was no match for the trim, affable actor. Salinger admits now that it was a mistake to match television images with Murphy.

"Television has changed everything," says Salinger. "I doubt if Abe Lincoln could get elected today."

Public opinion polls among Republicans have put Reagan out in front as a GOP candidate for governor.

A poor second to Reagan in the polls was GOP Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, who since has announced he's content to stay in the U.S. Senate.

The rise of Ronald Reagan in politics reads like a movie script. First he was a liberal Democrat and a militant leader during his long tenure as head of the Screen Actors Guild. Then he switched to Republicanism.

"George Murphy made me see the light," says Reagan.

Reagan, 54, helped Richard M. Nixon in his unsuccessful bids for the presidency and the governorship of California. But it was an impassioned television plea that he made last fall for Barry Goldwater that zoomed him into national prominence.

Reagan so far hasn't officially declared himself, probably won't for a few months. But he's making speeches, so much so that he had to turn down 200 invitations in September alone.

If Reagan makes it, a stampede for film figure candidates is possible. The Republicans have such as John Wayne, James Stewart and Walt Disney.

The Democratic glamour boys could be Marlon Brando, Burt Lancaster, Jack Lemmon and Frank Sinatra.

Eddie Albert has obvious appeal for the Democrats. Next to Mexico City, Los Angeles has the largest Mexican population in the world—nearly a million. Albert's wife is Margo, the Mexican-born actress.

One politico told Albert: "Your image is the friendly, average, decent American but even more important, you can sing and play a guitar. Even Ronnie Reagan can't do that."

Robert Vaughn, television's Man From U.C.L.E., and Bonanza's "Hoss," Dan Blocker, take politics seriously. Both are studying for doctoral degrees in political science.

"I figure that in 10 years, I will have had enough of acting and be ready to run for political office," says Vaughn.

Both Vaughn and Blocker are Democrats and stumped the state for the ticket in 1964.

Gary Merrill makes most of his living in Hollywood but he's going to try politics in his home state of Maine. He's already announced for the Maine House of Representatives as the first step in a campaign to run for governor.

It may be a long trail for him. Merrill is a Democrat. Maine usually isn't.

How to Save That Stuffing

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—How should I keep leftover turkey stuffing to use later?

A—Remove leftover stuffing from the turkey immediately when dinner is over. Cool it at once. Then store in separate dish in refrigerator. Use the next day or, at latest, the second day.

Q—We like to use a bowl of grapes, pears and bananas with autumn leaves as a holiday centerpiece. Should we keep the fruit in the refrigerator when it is not on the table for dinner?

A—If the grapes and pears are ripe, yes. Store uncovered in the refrigerator, but use within 3 to 5 days. If they are not fully ripe when you buy them, let them stand in the open air at room temperature. Do not place in the sun. As for the bananas, store them at room temperature, "not" in the refrigerator.

FINDING THE WAY

How Do YOU Give?

BY RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

At the Chatauqua Institute in New York there used to be a delightful man who presided at the many religious services over a period of years. The thousands of persons who attended those various events may have forgotten the sermons but they will always remember Dr. Randall's introduction of the offering. He could have said: "The Lord loveth a cheerful giver." But, said this happy man, the most meaning for this word "cheerful" is hilarious. "Therefore, 'The Lord loves a hilarious giver.'"

Hilarity is degraded into boisterousness and we are liable to think that to be spirited requires spirits!

True hilarity is joy let loose, beauty seen and understood, the deeper delight that can be seen and the quality of handling the ordinariness of life with exuberance.

That's why it is such a tragedy for men to strip the earth selfishly or to squeeze the juice out of life. The needs of our cities cry out for hilarious givers. The hurt hearts of so many more need to understand that, "This is the day which the Lord has made, let us rejoice and be glad in it."

C. S. Lewis once wrote of these deeper meanings which he called, "Surprised by Joy" and Richard Luecke, a contemporary author tells of the need to understand this sheer delight. "Things have a ground on which to stand and an air to breathe. Men are not only to dig them up but also to 'dig' them.

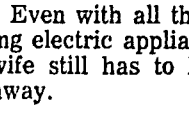

And then he writes of a little boy's first trip to the zoo (which is perhaps the only justification for the zoo) when he is stopped cold by the crested cockatoo or doubled over with laughter by his first giraffe. What a world in which all of a sudden there is a giraffe.

It's been too long for some of us since we've been surprised by joy or able to understand that day which is filled with rejoicing. As a result we are liable to share our little bit with condescension and to give our pennies with quick fingers. Yet all around there is the need for joy and the causes for hilarity. Those who have lived hilariously have made it possible for others to sing:

"I thank you God most for this amazing day, for the leaping greenly spirits of trees and a blue true dream of sky, and for everything which is natural, which is infinite, which is yes." The Lord loves a hilarious giver!

Dear Ann: At Odds About Dinner Tab

By ANN LANDERS
Dear Ann Landers: One evening last week we invited a couple to join us for dinner. We called ahead and made reservations, picked up Mac and Jane and were all set for a wonderful evening.

Just before the dessert Mac excused himself to make a phone call—he said. When my husband asked for the check he discovered that Mac had paid it. My husband was non-plussed when Jane thanked him profusely for the evening. Obviously she was unaware that we had been his guests. What should a person do when he is placed in a spot like this? It spoiled the evening for us. —LET DOWN

Dear Let Down: The habitual check-grabber may think he is behaving generously, but in a curious sense he is behaving selfishly by depriving others of the chance to be generous.

Tell Mac that if he pulls that stunt on you again it will be the last time you'll go to dinner with him. And make it stick.

Dear Ann Landers: My daughter and I are having a serious disagreement over her approaching marriage.

My husband and I have been married and divorced three times and has two children by each of her three husbands. Now Carmen is in love with a man she says was sent from heaven. She insists he is the only man she has ever loved and this marriage is the only "real" marriage of the lot.

Her previous marriages were civil ceremonies. Now she wants a church wedding complete with a bridal gown and the works, with her six children as attendants.

My husband says it will be a farce and that people will be laughing so loud nobody will be able to hear the organ music.

What do you think? —MOTHER OF THE BRIDE (?)

Dear Mother: A three-time loser with six kids is no bride. I agree with your husband.

Dear Ann Landers: I started to date a 17-year-old boy several weeks ago. We got along just fine, but something about our relationship bothers me. Bennett (made up name) is very affectionate and is always wanting to hold my hand or put his arm around me. He kissed me three weeks ago and it was the first time I had ever been self-addressed envelope.

The Mature Parent Analyze Teacher's Words

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: The week that school opened our son had an abscess under a tooth that kept him at home for two days. Last week his new fourth grade teacher called me to school for a conference. First, she said that he could not afford any more absences from class as his attention span is poor and that he is too "suggestible" to distraction by other children. She then asked me if our home was "disturbed." Mrs. Lawrence, my marriage is a happy one. The boy is a good student.

ANSWER: The: what are you worrying about? Your home doesn't have to be "disturbed" because the lady seems to want it to be. Nor does your son have to be "suggestible" to distraction because she says he is. It's just possible, you know, that what's poor is not his "attention span" but her teaching, that it bores your child, that she knows it, can't stand it and uses these psychological words to make you as anxious about the boy as she is about herself.

And you've fallen for them.

Look. These are days when parents have to remember that the powerful mental health profession is powerfully promoting its desire to turn teachers into reporters on emotional disturbance in their students. While it's certainly true that schools can help in detecting its symptoms, it is also true that emotionally disturbed teachers tend to interpret this promotion as license to offer us free psychiatric diagnoses, not only of our children's behavior but of ours, too. Thus, a teacher who can't bear the thought that her teaching may need improvement will call us to school to accuse us of a tremendous excitement among the McCoy's and the Hatfields. What is most needed at the present time is rain.

Sutton's Uncle Tom's Cabin troupe last night attracted a capacity house. Strange, isn't it? It seems that people never get tired of wanting to laugh at Mark's witticisms and cry over Eva and Tom.

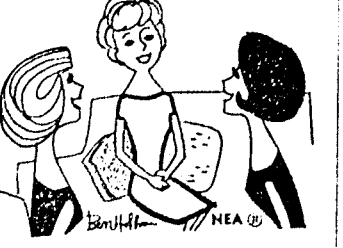

The Hatfield-McCoy feud score is even again. Several days ago Bud McCoy was waylaid and killed by Ples Hatfield in Pike county, Ky. The two recent killings has stirred up a tremendous excitement among the McCoy's and the Hatfields.

The improvement is what we want for the child, isn't it? So, if calling us the bad names adds to her teaching confidence, for heaven's sake, let's let her go to it. If it doesn't, and she continues to hint at sinister psychological defects in our child the sensible answer is, "Then why don't we call in your school psychologist to examine him and put him through the tests?"

Teachers are not psychologists. Their psychiatric diagnoses of us and children are not reliable. Some, however, pick up the pattern just as many other Americans pick it up to hit other people over the head.

ACROSS THE FIELDS AND FURROWS

Some Notes On Agriculture's Future

U. S. population to be approximately 250 million in fifteen years. Expected to reach 310 million by 1985. More people in the "farm farming" group which means they will be good prospects for increased food sales.

Americans with better incomes will eat more meat and meat generally means more returns to producers.

Still the family's food takes only 18% of take home pay now compared to 27% back in 1947.

As demand for food increases, as surpluses become a blessing instead of a blight, rural poverty will be known for what it is instead of the "farm problem". Washington is expected to concentrate more on foreign and domestic food problems and less on controlling production.

Polled Hereford Show And Sale In Springfield

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — The 1965 National Polled Hereford show and sale in Springfield, Ill., Dec. 9-11, will be the largest in the 43-year history of the annual event. A record number of 413 of America's finest Polled Herefords are entering, according to Orville K. Sweet, executive secretary of the organization.

Naturally hornless whiteface cattle are entered from coast to coast, from New York to Maryland to the east and from as far west as California, Washington and Oregon. Entries have come from Wisconsin to the north and from as far south as Mississippi and Texas.

A total of 18 states are represented by the 64 prominent Polled Hereford herds that have entered cattle. This is considered excellent for any national-scale show and sale.

The annual show and sale is internationally recognized as the most significant and influential Polled Hereford event in the world every year. It is expected to attract 3,000 to 4,000 spectators from all over the United States and Canada as well as from several foreign countries, Sweet said.

The 1965 National will be conducted in the heated main arena of the recently-completed Junior Activities Building at the Illinois State Fair. A total of $10,000 in premiums will be offered.

Dairy Cows Flourish On Simple Rations

Complex grain mixtures made up of 10 or more ingredients can make excellent dairy feed. But a recent University of Illinois DHIA study indicates that the average dairyman with good-quality roughage cannot afford to pay much of a premium for such mixtures.

"Our records show that a sizable portion of last year's DHIA members got high milk production and good returns over feed cost by using simple grain mixtures to supplement their roughage feeding program," explains Leo Fryman, U. of I. extension dairy scientist.

Fryman says that one segment of the study compared 172 DHIA herds receiving corn as the only grain with 552 herds that received oats and corn in the grain mixture. All of the herds received protein and mineral supplements.

Fryman says about one-fifth of the DHIA herds studied last year were receiving a single protein supplement along with farm grains and mineral supplements. The rest were fed either a commercial protein supplement or a combination of two or more protein supplements. Some mixtures contained as many as 10 different ingredients. "The small differences among the groups were not significant," Fryman explains. "When the same price was used for milk, returns over feed costs averaged only $1 higher for cows receiving a combination of supplements than for cows getting a commercial supplement or a simple, single-protein supplement."

Chicago Stock Show May Set New Peaks

CHICAGO — Record high entries are building up for the 66th edition of the International Live Stock Exposition, the show management reports.

It will be held here Nov. 26 to Dec. 4 in the 13-acre International Amphitheatre at the Chicago Stock Yards. Its competitions will feature 37 different breeds of farm animals.

Predict Big Entries Final tallies of the number of entries in the many competitions featured at this event have not yet been compiled, but show officials predict new record highs in many areas of the exposition, based on the heavy volume of early entries that has been received.

It is the country's final and largest stock show of the year. Stockmen call it "The World's Series" wind-up of the hundreds of shows and fairs that are held annually preceding the Chicago exposition.

Farm youth will be in the lime-light on the opening day, Friday, Nov. 26, as several hundred of them from many states stage a showing of top quality steers, lambs, and hogs they have raised as 4-H or Future Farmer of America projects. Most of their entries have been top winners at state and county fairs earlier in the season.

Rodeo Featured Daily World Championship Rodeo, combined with the long famous International Horse Show, will be the daily entertainment during the exposition's 9-day run.

Tommy Steiner, a Texas producer of top rodeos, will direct the International Rodeo and supply the bucking horses and the bulls that will give rough riding competition to the cowboy contestants.

Visitors to the exposition number between 350,000 and 400,000 annually. According to surveys conducted by the show management, they come from all the states and several foreign countries.

Shareholders representing 162 member service companies in the three states reelected the following directors for two-year terms:

Delmar Builta, Belleflower, Ill.

Russell M. Gordon, Palmyra, Ill.

Austin Makhholm, Suring, Iowa

Everett C. Phelps, Rt. 1, Rockton, Ill.

Rex Emory, Rt. 1, Prairie City, Ill.

Orville A. Leischner, Gifford, Ill.

Albert F. Penning, Appleton, Iowa.

Reelected to the board for one-year terms were: Lyle R. Stephens, LeMars, Iowa, and Arnold Brovold, Ettrick, Wis.

The size of the board of directors was reduced from 20 members to 16 members. Directors who did not seek reelection were: Keith T. Davis, Roseville, Ill.; Paul S. Ives, Rt. 1, Wapella, Ill.; Wayne Keith, Algonia, Iowa; and Howard R. Stuckey, Piper City, Ill.

Heads Pike Council

Mrs. Ronald Myers

Mrs. Ronald Myers of Griggsville was elected county chairman of the Pike County Homemakers Extension Council at the 27th annual meeting of the Pike County Homemakers Extension.

Mrs. Myers, the former Carolyn Peterson, served as assistant home adviser in Pike county and home adviser in Mercer county.

Other members of the council elected are: 1st Vice Chairman, Mrs. Ralph Kern; 2nd Vice Chairman, Mrs. Ralph Myers; Secretary, Mrs. Carroll Borowman; Treasurer, Mrs. Dick Peile; Ways and Means, Mrs. R. Wayne Ator; 4-H, Mrs. J. A. Bauer Jr.; Public Information, Mrs. E. Wayne Ward; Community Interest, Mrs. Lloyd Dolbeare; Subject Matter, Mrs. Edgar Johnson and Special Activities, Mrs. John Scoville.

Mrs. Loretta Johnson of the Pure Food and Drug Administration was the principal speaker at the meeting. Her topic was "How The Pure Food and Drug Administration Protects The Consumer". The "Four Mrs." presented a delightful musical presentation.

Mrs. Nick Smith of Pittsfield presided at the all-day meeting. Approximately 300 homemakers and other guests attended.

PRICE OF FARMLAND CONTINUES UPWARD

Prices of farmland have been going up almost continuously for 30 years. We think that prices will be still higher 30 years from now, but some periods of decline are to be expected, especially if government expenditures for farm price supports are reduced.

According to a recent USDA report, the average value of U.S. farmland last March 1 was $146 an acre — more than 4 1/2 times the value of 30 years ago. The rise in values has been interrupted only twice in the past 30 years. There were slight dips in 1949 and in 1952-1953. These dips in land values coincided with the sharp drops in prices of farm products after the end of World War II and the Korean War.

The average values of Illinois farmland last March were estimated at $371 an acre — over five times the value of 30 years ago. Illinois land values are the highest in the nation, except for a few states where prices are lifted by strong demand for residential uses or the production of intensive crops under irrigation. In comparison with Illinois' price of $371 an acre, corresponding values in nearby states were Indiana, $311; Iowa, $278; and Missouri and Wisconsin, $147.

7% Advance The average price of Illinois farmland went up 7 percent in the year ended last March. This was the biggest increase for any midwestern state. Neighboring states reported increases as follows: Indiana and Missouri, 6 percent; Iowa, 4 percent; and Wisconsin, 3 percent.

The national average increase in farmland values last year was 6 percent. Larger than average increases (6 percent or more) were recorded in nine southern states and in Pennsylvania, Maryland and California. Smaller than average increases were reported in the Northeast, the Lake States, Iowa, the Northern Plains, and the Western States (except California).

For many years we have heard claims that land values were "too high." It was said that the land could not produce enough income to make it a good investment. Buying land probably has been a poor investment for some people. But with average or better management, land has been a very good investment.

High Returns An investment of $100 in farmland 30 years ago would have returned $831 in earnings, and the original $100 investment would have grown to $410. The earnings plus the increase in value of the land would be about $1,140. By contrast, $100 invested in bonds yielding 3 1/2 percent would have returned only $105 in 30 years.

A recent analysis by the USDA shows that during the past five years the average rate of return on farmland has been 3.5 percent after payment of all expenses and allowances for family labor and management. This rate does not take into account the rise in land values.

During the past five years, the appreciation in land values has averaged about 5.2 percent, which is 1 1/2 times the realized to land from farming.

Land values are expected to rise further during the next 30 years. There will be no appreciable increase in the amount of good farm land that is available. If recent trends continue, our population will almost double during the next 30 years. World population may also double, placing increased demands upon U.S. agriculture. Finally, inflation seems to have become an accepted habit that will tend to raise the prices of almost everything.

BRIMFUL and running over

By Jim Brim

Each year many people are killed by firearms. It seems that, as in the case of drownings, the victims are frequently of high school age. Much pleasure can be derived from proper use of guns. Never point a gun at anyone even if you think it is unloaded. Unload firearms before putting them away and keep them out of reach of children.

When carrying a gun keep the muzzle pointed up or down, never toward another person. When climbing a fence put the gun over first after unloading it. Be especially careful when hunting to be sure no one is near. Wear a red or orange cap or jacket when in the woods during the hunting season.

When you go hunting be sure you obtain permission of the land owner and then have respect for others property for you may desire to hunt there again.

If you are hunting from a boat or must take a boat to a blind observe boating safety rules also. Even good swimmers have trouble in the water with winter clothes on — buy and use good life preservers.

Observe hunting rules and regulations.

Now You Should Kill rats. Buy Mom a new coat. Invite guests for Thanksgiving.

Read Mathew 11:28-29. Write to your congressman express your opinions to him. Put some money in the bank.

Many counties hold a series of Extension meetings during the winter. Check with your farm adviser about them if you don't know about them. Morgan County will have meetings on Beef Feedslots, Corn Production, Farm Records and Estate Planning.

As a modern farmer you need to learn about new practices. Many common practices of today weren't even thought of fifteen years ago and many of today's practices won't be used a short time from now. You must use every way possible to continue to do a good job.

Get flu shots. Doctors now agree they help and reports seem to indicate a lot of it will be around this winter.

Farmers Receive Financial Aid Through FHA

Several family farms and the rural community were strengthened during fiscal 1965 by Farmers Home Administration's ownership loan program, Norman T. Torrens, the agency's county supervisor for Brown, Cass, and Morgan counties, reported last week.

He said that approximately $65,000 was loaned to four family farmers to buy, enlarge, or develop farms or to refinance debts, and that an additional 61 farm families continued to use Farmers Home Administration credit obtained in previous years.

"This supervised loan assistance, tailored to the individual borrower's needs — was made available only to family farm operators unable to obtain reasonable credit from other sources, and determined eligible by local farmer committees," Torrens explained.

Included in this credit total were loans for $39,000 made to farm families last year for purchase and improvement of needed land and construction or repair of farm buildings. Some $25,700 in loans were made to farmers of the tri-county area for financing debts and developing their farms.

"These farmers were in financial difficulty mainly from causes beyond their control. Without Farmers Home Administration credit, they might have been forced to leave the land and migrate to the cities," Torrens said.

He noted the contribution of the family farmers to the economic growth of the west central Illinois communities. "Progressive family farms strengthen the tax base which supports community institutions and increase the cash flow along Main Street," Torrens emphasized.

Plans For '66 Wheat Program In Morgan County Outlined

To help farmers make plans this fall Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman has announced highlights of the 1966 wheat program. The wheat program is part of the new Food and Agriculture Act of 1965 recently enacted by Congress.

The Secretary said that farmers who participate in the 1966 wheat program will receive a higher return per bushel in the new program than they did under the 1965 program.

Edw. J. Meagher, chairman, Illinois Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, said wheat farmers have already been notified of their farm allotments for 1966. There will be no fall sign-up period for winter wheat growers. Sign-up for wheat will be conducted after the first of the year at the same time as feed grain.

Farm projected yields are now being determined. ASCS Office Manager Wallace Hembrough announced, and each wheat farmer will be notified of his projected yield before sign-up time. The projected yield is the yield established for program purposes and under the new law consideration is given to current operations and production as well as past production. Yields established for 1966 should more nearly reflect expected production under current cultural practices and normal weather conditions.

Wheat farmers who sign up and participate in the program will be eligible for a national average price-support loan of $1.25 per bushel on all production of their allotted acres plus domestic certificates on 45 percent of the projected yield for the farm allotment.

Domestic Use The domestic certificates to farmers will be valued at the difference between the national average loan rate of $1.25 per bushel and parity as of July 1, 1966, the beginning of the marketing year. (Parity for wheat for October was $2.56.) Options available to participating farmers in deciding on their operations for 1966 include:

Substitution of wheat for feed grains or feed grains for wheat acreage where the farmer is participating in both programs. Barley will be considered as a feed grain in the 1966 program.

Substitution of wheat for oats and/or rye provided the farmer is participating in the feed grain program. The oats-rye bases will be adjusted, however, to account for the difference in feed units between these crops.

Producers may sign up for voluntary diversion of up to 50 percent of the allotment to conserving uses, with a payment rate to be announced later. Farmers with 1966 wheat allotments of 21.7 acres or less may divert their entire allotments for payment. (In 1965, the maximum voluntary additional diversion for payment was 20 percent of the 1965 wheat allotment or 13.5 acres, whichever was larger.)

The cost of domestic certificates to processors will be 75 cents per bushel, the same as in 1965.

Export Business No export certificates will be issued to farmers, but there will be a variable export certificate to be valued daily at an amount necessary to make U.S. wheat available at prices comparable to world market prices.

When U.S. prices are above world market prices, certificates will have no value and an export subsidy reflecting the difference between the U.S. and world price levels will be paid to exporters. If world prices are above U.S. prices, the certificate value will be the difference between the U.S. and world prices, and will be collected from exporters.

A pool will be maintained and any possible net receipts (certificate payment by exporters less Government export payments) would be apportioned among co-operating producers at the end of the marketing year.

"This new provision assures that U.S. wheat producers will receive the benefit of the higher world prices should they occur, while maintaining a competitive relationship for feed wheat and feed grains in the U.S. market," Hembrough said.

Captain Wirz Hanged

The people of Jacksonville, 100 years ago, took the news of the hanging of Capt. Henri Wirz, C.S.A., with mixed feelings.

There were a few men in town who had survived days in that frightful prison pen, Andersonville, Georgia.

More than a third of the men who went there are buried there. How the rest of them pulled through is beyond comprehension, understanding.

Wirz was Swiss, a doctor. It is said he could speak well in both German and French, but his English was slurred.

He was a doctor in New Orleans when the Civil War began. He promptly enlisted in the Confederate army and a Union rifle ball went through his right arm in the battle of Seven Pines, Va.

This wound never mended. He went to Europe the next year to have the best doctors in the world look at it, but they didn't do him any good. It hurt all the time, with fragments of bone flushing to the surface from time to time through three open wounds, wounds with a foul smell.

Our boys, in 1865, thought he deserved hanging. But they wondered if some of his superiors didn't deserve the same treatment.

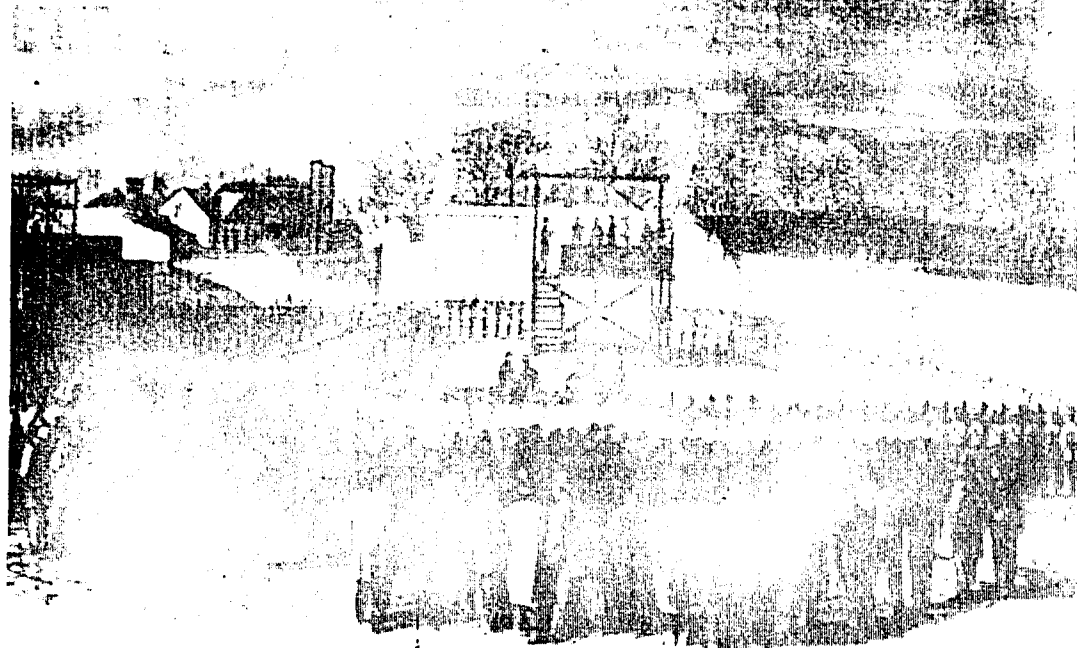

Here's the story of the hanging, from the able pen of a man then in the employ of Frank Leslie's illustrated Newspaper.

THE EXECUTION OF WIRZ — On Friday, the 10th instant, this notorious criminal, who has, without doubt, directly caused more loss of life than any man that ever lived, expired his crimes on the scaffold in the yard of the Old Capitol Prison, Washington City.

At 10 o'clock, Wirz was informed by Captain Walbridge that his time had arrived, and he submitted himself to the black robe and cowl. He then drank from a tea cup a heavy dose of whisky; nervously gnawed a piece from a plug of tobacco, which he threw back on the shelf, cast a hurried glance around the apartment, and, with a light step, walked past the guard at his door into the hall, accompanied by his faithful spiritual advisers, who consoled with words and the sight of the crucifix. At a turn of the stairs he caught sight, through an open window, of the gallows and the expectant crowd.

There was a momentary start or shrinking, as if from shock, and he went on.

Wirz then passed on down the stairs, out between the files of men, up to the scaffold, showing something in his face and step, which in a better man, might have passed for heroism.

Silence Rules — As he advanced all conversation was hushed, and the sombre-draped figure marched on between the rows of soldiers, sending a chill through the hearts of all that looked upon the scene.

Then commenced the enumeration of his crimes, to which he seemed stolidly to listen. This reading consumed eighteen minutes. His arms were drawn back and pinioned close, the rope was thrown over his head, and the black shroud drawn. All retired from the platform, leaving only Wirz, who, standing thus eight or ten seconds, when the officer below raised his cap as a signal, and there was a crash of the falling trap, a sudden jerk and tension of the rope, and a dark and lengthened form swung convulsively beneath the scaffold.

Hush . . . Huzzahs

For a moment there was a hush upon the multitude within; then came something like a cheer from beyond the prison walls, where all available objects commanding a view of the scene within, were crowded with citizens and soldiers, and gradually there was lifted from the nearer spectators the awe occasioned from seeing a life pass violently from most infamous manhood to the darkest valley of the shadow of death, and there was a hum of comment accompanied by a general crowding nearer the scaffold.

Fifteen minutes more passed without material event. The people who had been on the roofs of houses and in the branches of trees, together with considerable members from the prison, retired from the contemplation of the scene, leaving only a few officers and a large group of the members of the press to witness the last of the tragedy.

About a quarter to eleven a surgeon approached the pendant body, carefully raised the lower part of the hood, and peered for a little time into the dead man's face, and felt for the flutter of his pulse. There was no spark of animation remaining.

Quest For Souvenirs — The rope was made to loose its throttle, and the body was lowered upon a hospital stretcher, and carried into the dead-house of the prison. The guard was brought to "attention," and filed out of the court, leaving the spectators in undisturbed possession of the field, quarreling and elbowing each other for fragments of the rope that performed the sacrifice. Not five minutes elapsed before the executionary cable was severed into inch bits that accompanied the delighted possessors from the field.

And thus ended the execution of Henri Wirz, whose name will go down to posterity, accompanied by the execrations of thousands.

FOREIGN

November, 1865

Turkey has been startled by the rumor of a great innovation perpetrated by the Sultan. It is said he is having his portrait painted by a French artist, M. Guillemet. Hitherto all representations of the human form have been deemed profane by the true Mahometans.

In the year 1841, the quantity of tobacco consumed in Great Britain was such as to average 13½ ounces per head of population. In the year 1863 it had risen to 1 pound, 4½ ounces.

The erection of a statue to Dr. Simpson, as discoverer of chloroform, is exciting some interest in foreign medical circles. The French doctors say that one M. Soubiran is the original discoverer.

A disease has made its appearance among the hares and rabbits in England, which is killing them off rapidly. What with the plague among beef and mutton, another epidemic among the horses, the rabbits running round with no hair on their backs, and the rising of the Fenians, John Bull is greatly worried.

Mr. H. is now on his second tour through the West, after an absence of five years.

QUALIFIED — Capt. Whitlock, elected judge of the County Court at the recent election, filed his bonds and qualified on Monday last.

POSTPONED — The Lecture of Dr. O. B. Tiffany, to have been delivered in Strawn's Hall this evening, is postponed to tomorrow, Friday evening. Bills have been posted announcing the change, and it is to be hoped no serious disappointment will result from it.

PERSONAL — We are indebted to Mr. Mode TenEyck for a copy of the Sacramento (California) DAILY UNION of Oct. 25th, in advance of the Mail. Mr. TenEyck has just returned from a trip to Kansas, and passing the Overland Stage on his way home, secured this copy of the UNION.

From the Jacksonville Sentinel:

Major General John A. Logan has been tendered the minister-ship to Japan by the president, and is said to have accepted. Big thing!

The fare on the horse rail-ways of St. Louis have been reduced to five cents.

We are under obligations to the popular family grocery firm, Lambert & Scott, north-west corner of the square, for a quart bottle of the celebrated Arnold Writing Fluid, manufactured in England, and now generally used in banking and commercial houses throughout the country. We expect to use the courteous donation above referred to, in advocating a white man's government in this country, and trust that in so doing it, we may be instrumental in increasing the anti-negro suffrage majority in Old Morgan next fall.

The brick work on the new Christian Church, East State street, has been completed, and the frame work of the roof raised. The new edifice, when completed, will present a neat appearance.

The new Board of Township Trustees, recently elected, has appointed A. N. McDonald Township Treasurer, vice Matthew Stacy, Esq., removed.

From the Carrollton Gazette: A friend from Morgan county informs us that there has been a general rot throughout the county among the potatoes. Some patches are completely destroyed.

A few days since some of our young men formed an organization in this place known as the "Carrollton Cotillion Club." They have their first monthly hop at Union hall on Thursday evening next.

The citizens of Jerseyville seem to be in great glee over the completion of the railroad to that place. A great stir is created in business circles.

We are informed that a Mr. Rose from Morgan county has this week purchased the grocery house of Donaghee, Winfrey & Co., and also purchased the residence as well as the building. Thus it will be seen, our town is rapidly filling up with moneyed men and of that class who possess a commendable amount of enterprise.

HUMORS of the day

November, 1865

An old lady being asked to subscribe to a newspaper, declined, on the grounds that when she wanted news she manufactured it.

"What are you reading that interests you so much?" inquired a gentleman visiting the house of a friend of his daughter.

"A book papa says mother mustn't read," was the unembarrassed reply.

Upon what "line" have the greatest number of accidents happened? Upon the C.R.I.N.O. Line.

Why is a stock gambler like a railroad train? Because he may be expected to smash up at any moment.

THE LAST THING IN LUCIFER MATCHES — There is an ingenious safety match, now in general use, which will light only on the box, and not always on that. We hear that it is to be superseded by a new invention which not light at all. Josh Billings says that "if a man professes to serve the Lord, he likes to see him do it when he measures onions as well as when he hollers glory halleluier."

Farm Structures Day Thursday

Disturbs Many Churchmen

Book Claims Jesus Planned Crucifixion

By GODFREY ANDERSON
 LONDON (AP) — A controversial new book claiming that Jesus planned his own crucifixion is disturbing many churchmen of all denominations in Britain.
 The book—titled "The Passover Plot"—suggests that Jesus, believing himself to be the promised Messiah, schemed throughout his life to manipulate people so that the Old Testament prophecies would be fulfilled.
 The writer is Dr. Hugh J. Schonfield, a Jewish scholar living in London, well-known for his modern translation of the New Testament and some 30 commentaries on Biblical history.
 Published here by Hutchinson, the book will appear in the United States when negotiations over

 Schonfield, 64, says he subscribes to no religious creed himself though he believes in God as pure spirit. He insists he has written his book not to create a sensation but in an honest search for truth. His claims, he says, are the result of more than 40 years of objective research.
 Writing of the events of Passion Week, Schonfield says: "A conspiracy had to be organized of which the victim himself was the principal instigator. It was a nightmarish conception and undertaking, the outcome of the frightening logic of a sick mind or a genius. And it worked out."
 According to Schonfield, Jesus knew the church had to be founded on fulfillment of prophecies, so he planned that fulfillment in the minutest detail.

 He timed the plan for his apparent death so that he would be crucified on Friday, knowing that because of the Jewish Sabbath he would be taken down from the cross within a few hours.
 Schonfield claims:
 — The vinegar passed to Jesus on a sponge was really a drug passed by an accomplice, enabling him to simulate death, so his legs would not be broken like those of the two thieves crucified with him. The blood that flowed from his side showed he was still living, Schonfield claims.
 — The linens and spices used to wrap his body acted as dressings for his injuries. He probably briefly recovered consciousness after being laid in the tomb, but succumbed from the soldier's lance wound in his side. His body was secretly taken away and buried, leaving the mystery of the empty tomb.
 Throughout, Schonfield seems anxious to avoid appearing an anti-Christian propagandist. He insists nothing can be proved either way. And, in arguing that Jesus did not die on the cross and that his resurrection was part of a prearranged plan, he insists there was no deliberate untruth in the witness of Christ's followers.

 Neither was there any fraud on the part of Jesus himself, Schonfield says.
 "He had schemed in vain for his physical recovery, and what he expected was frustrated by circumstances beyond his control," Schonfield writes.
 Church leaders in Britain have thus far withheld public comment on the book. Two Church of England priests who read it said they took it seriously although they disapproved.
 Scores of earnest churchgoers wrote to the newspapers, mostly in condemnation of the book.

ROUNDUP FROM BEARDSTOWN SHOW'S UP IN VIET NAM

BEARDSTOWN —The Roundup has been finding its way to Vietnam. The parents of at least 4 vets said they send the clippings regularly. Latest to tell of his scheme is "Q" Engineer Hymes whose son was injured in a Viet Cong booby trap and is now on crutches due to two broken bones in his foot.
 On their recent deer hunting trip to Colorado, Albert Huston, postal employee and Lyle Taylor, city policeman, bagged a deer each. They claim their 16 hour straight through drive west was "worth it."
 Mrs. Charles (Gwen) Boyd of this city was a speaker in Brown county at Mt. Sterling on the occasion of the observance of Veterans Day Thursday morning. Mrs. Boyd, former state president of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Illinois Legion, is now occupying an important position as a member of the national executive committee.

 The attractive "Wienermobiles," an Oscar Mayer trophy which became popular here at the time of the Oscar Mayer Day, are to be made available to Beardstownians for a short time after Nov. 15. At the request of the Beardstown Chamber of Commerce, which has had hundreds of inquiries, the Mayer company has agreed to give a "Wienermobile" in exchange for a coupon to be found in Oscar Mayer Products purchased in local stores. The Wienermobile is a replica of the large vehicle, fashioned like an Oscar Mayer wiener, which is used in the company advertising program.

ISD Ends Season With 20-6 Victory

VIRGINIA — Sparkling running by halfbacks Ray Richardson and Danny Curtis carried the ISD Tigers to a 20-6 PMSC conference victory over Virginia, in a wide-open game more offensive-minded than the score ended, Friday night.

The losing Redbirds controlled the ball most of the game, running up a net gain of 427 yards for the night, mostly on the throwing arm of quarterback Steve Graves. ISD gained well over 300 yards on the ground, with Richardson carrying seven times for 122 yards and Curtis legging it ten times for 111 yards. Fullback Mike Dodd got 50 yards in nine tries.

The win boosts ISD's final record to 5-31 on the year, 4-11 in the PMSC. Virginia ended with a 1-8 season mark, 1-5 in league play.

ISD got a sustained drive underway in the second frame, after Virginia controlled the ball most of the opening 12 minutes. Curtis got the score on an eight-yard carry, with quarterback Harry Bloomgreen running the point after.

Virginia got all the way to the Tiger two-yard stripe before running out of downs with 30 seconds left in the first half.

The losing Redbirds again did most of the offensive work in the third round, finally scoring early in the final 12 minutes. Graves connected with end Walter Riley on a 20-yard scoring toss on a busted play. The kick for the point after that would have tied the game was blocked.

From there the speedy Richardson took over. The senior gridded rambled 35 yards for one score then broke loose for 60 yards on another with about eight minutes left in the game. Terry Story passed to Danny George for one extra point.

Virginia got to the Tiger 30 late in the game before bogging down.

Richardson was credited with 18 unassisted tackles in the game, with defensive end Ron Nuzzo getting 13.

Greenfield Ends Year With 8-0 Win Over Hawks

GREENFIELD—A safety and touchdown in the first half plus some strong defensive football carried Greenfield to an 8-0 Illinois Valley conference triumph over Carrollton, here Friday evening, in the season's finale for the two clubs.

The winners marched down to the Carrollton 12 in the opening quarter, only to have a touch-down pass called back. Two plays later Clinton Bailey and Bob Harr forced David Hindenlang out of the end zone for a safety.

Robert Turpening capped a 55-yard Greenfield scoring march in the second, with a two yard lunge. Mike Meyer's 56-yard punt that went out on the Carrollton two kept the Hawks in a hole.

The only serious Carrollton march in the second half ended up at the Greenfield 17.

For the game Greenfield got 12 first downs to six by the losers, outgained the Hawks on the ground 166-74, and gained 21 yards passing to 31 by Carrollton.

Wolves Finish With 28-0 Romp Over Calhoun

HARDIN — Quarterback Larry Mooney and fullback Gary Barnes shared the honors here Friday night in leading Pleasant Hill to a 28-0 romp over Calhoun, giving the Wolves a 4-1-1 Illinois Valley conference record, good for second slot in the loop.

Barnes scored on runs of three and ten yards, while Mooney legged a tally from 14 yards out, passed for another and collected an extra point in a contest which saw the visitors dominate play throughout the final three periods of play.

After a stalemated first quarter, Barnes scored his first tally of the night on a three yard plunge, capping a 62 yard drive. Halfback Bill Tharp ran for the point after, giving the Wolves a 7-0 margin.

Pleasant Hill gained their second tally of the contest on their next series, as Mooney connected with split end Mark Browning for 25 yards and the score. Barnes then swept left end for the point after, leaving the visitors with a 14-0 halftime lead.

Midway through the third frame, the Wolves connected again, with Barnes carrying in from the 10. The play capped another sustained drive by the Wolves of over 50 yards.

The attempted kick for the point after by Mooney was good.

Trailing 21-0, Calhoun moved to the Wolves' 35 yard marker before Barnes picked off a Warrior aerial, running back 25 yards into Calhoun territory.

Five plays later, Mooney rolled out to pass, but elected to run and moved into the clear for a 14 yard score. Tharp added the extra point on a line plunge, ending the scoring in the contest.

The win leaves the Wolves with a season final of 7-1-1, while the Warriors finish with a 1-7 slate on the year.

DENY PARSEGHIAN QUITTING IRISH

NEW YORK (AP) — Ara Parseghian of Notre Dame might be the coach of the Miami team when it enters the American Football League next season, the New York Journal-American said Friday.

But the report was promptly denied.

Barney Kremenko wrote in the Journal-American that the Dolphins "were trying to lure Parseghian over to their side for 1966, when they go into operation."

Joe Robbie, co-owner of the Dolphins, said that his club "had not been in direct or indirect contact with Ara Parseghian or any other coach, college or pro, in regard to our head coaching job."

He added that the Dolphins would wait until after the season before contacting prospects. Parseghian, in his second season at Notre Dame, has been highly successful as Irish coach.

Cats Knock Off Triopia In 12-7 Game

PALMYRA — Senior fullback Dave Reznicek bulled for 102 yards on the ground, scoring two touchdowns, and hauled down five passes for 48 more markers, here Friday night, leading the Northwestern Wildcats to a 12-7 upset over heavily-favored Triopia.

Reznicek scored both tallies on line plunges of less than two yards, in a contest which saw all of the scoring confined to the first half of play.

Northwestern moved from the opening kickoff, gaining down to the Trojan 15 before losing the ball on downs. On the next play from scrimmage, Wildcat defeneman Kent King picked up a fumbled handoff, carrying to the 14.

Left halfback Dale Tosh then gained 13 yards to the Triopia one, with Reznicek carrying in on the following play.

Trailing 6-0, Triopia took the kickoff to their own 35 and moved to the 40 on successive two-yard carries by halfback Bill Meier.

Running a cross-buck pattern, Meier took a handoff and sprinted into the clear on a 61 yard touchdown jaunt. Meier also added the point after on a run around left end to give the visitors a slim 7-6 edge as the first quarter came to a close.

Midway through the second frame, Northwestern gained possession at midfield and moved to the Triopia 30 on sprints of nine and 11 yards by Reznicek. Barry Harvey then gained to the five before Tosh set up Reznicek's second score of the night with a plunge to the one.

The Wildcats gained possession of the ball once more in the first half, carrying to the Triopia five before time ran out.

Both clubs put up a strong defensive block after the intermission as neither offensive unit was able to move inside the opposition's 20 yard line. Wildcat tackle Gary Hunt and guard Jim Dowland were credited with repelling the Trojan attack throughout the half.

The contest was the last of the season for both clubs and left the Wildcats with a 3-4-2 mark, while the Triopia outfit finishes at 6-3.

WINCHESTER — Winchester's strong defense held Southwestern to a plus two yards on offense, here Friday night, as the Wildcats romped to a 26-0 Illinois Valley conference victory and their first IVC crown since 1962.

The victory breaks a two-year Southwestern reign on the IVC title. A Winchester loss in this game would have dropped the Wildcats into a tie with Pleasant Hill.

The winners held a 10-3 edge on first downs.

Finish .500 Year In Impressive Win

By BUFORD GREEN

Jacksonville completely dominated their final game of the season Friday night, streaking to an impressive 34-0 shutout over the visiting Hannibal, Mo. Pirates. The victory lifted the Crimsons to 4-4-1 on the year.

One of the Crimsons' strongest defensive efforts of the year held the puncheonless Pirates at bay all evening. The hard-charging JHS line limited Hannibal to only 31 net rushing yards in the game, a minus 15 in the second half.

On offense Jacksonville moved almost at will. With Harry Gollier and Larry Angelo carrying the load, the Crimsons racked up 272 yards on the ground and 50 more passing, on the arm of quarterback Danny Brooks.

Gollier turned in his second straight 100-yard plus rushing game, averaging 12.6 yards a try on 126 yards in ten carries. Angelo, playing his final game for the Jacks, legged the ball 14 times for 75 yards.

The score would probably have been higher except for 100 yards in penalties walked off against the Crimsons, several stopping possible scoring drives.

Gollier and Rich Coble each scored twice for the winners. Gollier's two in the second period broke the game open as Jacksonville came from a first-quarter scoreless deadlock to take a 22-0 advantage in at halftime.

Line standouts were many, including Roger Zulauf, Mike Matijevich, Roger Patterson and Larry Cook.

Jacks Threaten Early
Jacksonville threatened to score the second time they got the ball, moving from their own 40 midway in the period to the carrying the load, the Crimsons fumbled. In that drive Gollier raked up 272 yards on the ground and 50 more passing, on the arm of quarterback Danny Brooks.

Near the close of the opening frame Coble fell on a Pirate bobble at the Hannibal 21 to set up the initial score of the game.

From the 21 Brooks carried to the 14, and Larry Nortrup to the ten. After Gollier lost two yards on a fumble the junior halfback swept his own right end behind fine blocking for the remaining 12 yards and six points with 10:33 left in the half. The kick for the PAT sailed wide to the left.

The Crimsons took over one series later, at the Hannibal 49, and moved in to score quickly again. Gollier broke loose for eight to the 41, and Angelo tore off 18 yards and a first down to the Pirate 23.

After three running plays gained only four yards Brooks hit Coble in the right flat at the ten and Coble made it the rest of the way under his own power for another six. Patterson booted the point after for a 13-0 edge with 6:32 to play in the half.

As a windup to the series of articles on limit raises, we will discuss showing maximum support after passing.

You can't use two no-trump here. There is too much need for it as a normal response by a passed hand. However, there is one bid that is readily available. That is the bid of three no-trump. You just can't pass a hand that warrants a real three no-trump bid after partner opens in third or fourth seat, but you can pass a hand that has tremendous support for partner's suit.

Today's North hand is one. He has almost enough for an opening bid and when his partner opens with one spade, North wants to make sure of reaching a spade game or slam. He shows this by jumping to three no-trump!

Remember that this particular three no-trump bid is a force to four spades and shows no desire to play in no-trump.

The hand is a lay-down grand slam because South can draw trumps with two leads and eventually ruff out two diamonds and a club. It also is not likely to be reached without use of this Jacoby convention but is rather easy to reach with it.

South's four - diamond bid shows the ace and invites a slam. North's four heart bid shows that ace and accepts the invitation. The five club call is another cue bid. The bids of five diamonds, five hearts and six clubs are all meant to show second round control and this makes it easy for South to jump right to the grand slam.

Second Break-In In Beardstown At Same Place

BEARDSTOWN — For the second time this week the Crestwood Farm Supply quarters on 8th street at the Railroad were broken into some time Wednesday night.

Police said that admission was gained in the same way used the first time—a glass was broken to enable the burglar to trip a lock.

The first burglary was reported Nov. 5 when $35 was stolen. On the same night the Beardstown Lumber company was broken into and $127.00 stolen.

No report of loot was made by Crestwood on this second "visit."

Beardstown Notes

The A. G. Schultz home, 115 W. Fifth street has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Peter Hartung who are coming here from Davenport when Mr. Hartung assumes his executive position with Oscar Mayer and company. The late Al Schultz bought the home from his father in 1918.

Jack Wessel, an employee of Beardstown Mills, has the wheels turning for construction of his new $24,000 home in the Clement Addition on the Chandler road. Mr. and Mrs. Wessel and family now reside on the east side having sold their Washington street property several weeks ago. The new home has been staked out and actual construction will begin soon.

Meanwhile swift progress is being made on a number of other new homes here, including a ranch type being constructed on Jackson street in the 1200 block for Walter Millard, local florist. The Bob MacClinchies will be taking over new duties at Olivet College, Michigan Nov. 15th and left here the 11th for their new home. MacClinchie will be acting in an administrative capacity at Olivet, and says that his duties will be similar to those he had at the United States Embassy in Paris during his years with the State Department.

Freak Accident
Halts Work At Grain Elevator

BEARDSTOWN — A freak accident about 4:30 p.m. Thursday put a complete stymie on activities at the Continental Grain Elevator in the midst of its busiest season.

A large tractor and trailer with 950 bushels of corn just unloaded, crashed 18 feet to the ground and wedged between an elevator and the company office after a U bolt on a lift had broken.

No one was injured, but F. A. Lyons, elevator manager, reported it was impossible to say just when the damage could be repaired.

Loaded trucks are driven onto a large platform scale that can be hoisted into the air in order to facilitate unloading. The huge tractor trailer outfit, owned by the Pitt Transport company of Augusta, was on the lift and had just been unloaded when the vital U bolt snapped, plunging the outfit down, twisting the scale platform like a pretzel and doing much damage to the trailer.

The driver had dismounted before the lift was put into operation.

Mr. Lyons said that the outfit weighed 40 tons. He had lifting equipment on hand Friday to start the job of clearing the scale area.

Mike Varley was operating the lifting equipment when the crash occurred.

A large number of trucks which were waiting their turn to unload had to be turned away.

Continental loads grain from its elevators to barges on the river.

DRIVER TICKETED
AFTER ACCIDENT

A Springfield man was ticketed by city police for failure to stop at a stop sign after an accident at 2:09 p.m. Friday at the intersection of East College and South Clay.

Charles W. Flint of Springfield, headed north on South Clay, collided with a westbound auto driven by Ernest S. Allen of Route 1, Chandlerville.

Flint told police he didn't see the stop sign.

Hunting Mishap
Injures Boy, 17

A 17-year-old Jacksonville youth was reported in good condition Friday night by a Holy Cross hospital spokesman after doctors extracted shotgun pellets from the boy's arm and abdomen.

Authorities reported that Daniel Lomelino, 17, of route four, was reported to have been accidentally shot by his brother Richard, 15, near their home about three o'clock that afternoon.

Morgan County Sheriff Harold E. Wright said the youths told him they were shooting pigeons with a shotgun when the incident occurred.

Lomelino was taken to the hospital, and police were notified of the mishap later. The accident occurred near their home on Vine street.

S. A. Thompson,
85, Dies In Iowa

S. A. Thompson, 85, father of Reverend Jack Thompson, a former pastor of Jacksonville West Circuit Methodist churches now living in White Hall, passed away at 6:30 a.m. Friday in Burlington, Ia.

Mr. Thompson had been superintendent of the Burlington waterworks for the past 50 years. He was a member of the Methodist church, the Masons and many other civic organizations.

He is survived by seven children. His wife and two children preceded him in death.

Funeral services will be held in Ottumwa, Ia. at 10 a.m. Monday.

CARS DAMAGED
EAST OF CITY

Two cars sustained damage 2½ miles southeast of Jacksonville on State Route 104 at 11:45 a.m. Friday.

A car driven by Grace Trotter, 411 North Laurel Drive, slowed for a farm tractor on the highway and was struck from the rear by a second vehicle driven by Jerry W. Adams of Litchfield. A passenger, Danny Leonard, also of Litchfield, sustained minor injuries.

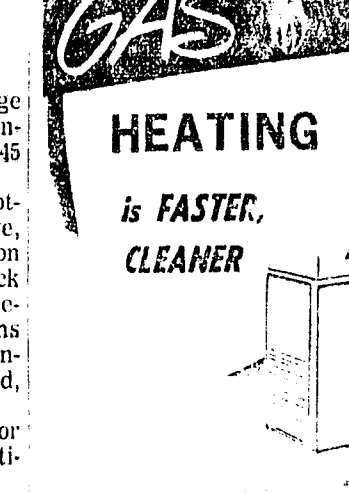

Adams was issued a ticket for following too closely by investigating state troopers.
